The Distinction of Fiction Dorrit Cohn, 2000-12. Winner of the Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies from the Modern Language Association. Winner of the Modern Language Association's Aldo and Jeanne Scaglione Prize for Comparative Literary Studies. The border between fact and fiction has been trespassed so often it seems to be a highway. Works of history that include fictional techniques are usually held in contempt but works of fiction that include history are among the greatest of classics. Fiction claims to be able to convey its own unique kinds of truth. But unless a reader knows in advance whether a narrative is fictional or not judgment can be frustrated and confused. In The Distinction of Fiction Dorrit Cohn argues that fiction does present specific clues to its fictionality and its own justifications. Indeed except in cases of deliberate deception fiction achieves its purposes best by exercising generic conventions that inform the reader that it is fiction. Cohn tests her conclusions against major narrative works including Proust's A la Recherche du temps perdu, Mann's Death in Venice, Tolstoy's War and Peace and Freud's case studies. She contests widespread poststructuralist views that all narratives are fictional. On the contrary she separates fiction and nonfiction as necessarily distinct even when bound together. An expansion of Cohn's Christian Gauss lectures at Princeton and the product of many years of labor and thought The Distinction of Fiction builds on narratological and phenomenological theories to show that boundaries between fiction and history can be firmly and systematically explored.

The Case of Literature Arne Höcker, 2020-06-15. In The Case of Literature Arne Höcker offers a radical reassessment of the modern European literary canon. His reinterpretations of Goethe, Schiller, Büchner, Döblin, Musil and Kafka show how literary and scientific narratives have determined each other over the past three centuries and he argues that modern literature not only contributed to the development of the human sciences but also established itself as the privileged medium for a modern style of case based reasoning. The Case of Literature deftly traces the role of narrative fiction in relation to the scientific knowledge of the individual from eighteenth century psychology and pedagogy to nineteenth century sexology and criminology to twentieth century psychoanalysis. Höcker demonstrates how modern authors consciously engaged casuistic forms of writing to arrive at new understandings of literary discourse that correspond to major historical transformations in the function of fiction. He argues for the centrality of literature to changes in the conceptions of psychological knowledge, production around 1800, legal responsibility and institutionalized forms of decision making throughout the nineteenth century and literature's own realist demands in the early twentieth century.

Kate Atkinson, 2006-10-11 On a beautiful summer day crowds lined up outside a theater witness a sudden act of extreme road rage a tap on a fender triggers a nearly homicidal attack Jackson Brodie ex cop ex private detective new millionaire is among the bystanders The event thrusts Jackson into the orbit of the wife of an unscrupulous real estate tycoon a washed up comedian a successful crime novelist a mysterious Russian woman and a female police detective Each of them hiding a secret each looking for love or money or redemption or escape they all play a role in driving Jackson out of retirement and into the middle of several mysteries that intersect in one sinister scheme Kate Atkinson writes such fluid sparkling prose that an ingenious plot almost seems too much to ask but we get it anyway writes Laura Miller for Salon With a keen eye for the excesses of modern life a warm understanding of the frailties of the human heart and a genius for plots that turn and twist Atkinson has written a novel that delights and surprises from the first page to the last Making the Case Robert Leventhal, 2019-11-18 One hundred years before Freud's striking psychoanalytic case histories the narrative psychological case history emerged in the second half of the eighteenth century in Germany as an epistemic genre Gianna Pomata that cut across the disciplines of medicine philosophy law psychology anthropology and literature It differed significantly from its predecessors in theology jurisprudence and medicine Rather than subsuming the individual under an established classification moral precept category or type the narrative psychological case history endeavored to articulate the individual in its very individuality thereby constructing a self in its irreducible singularity The presentation and analysis of several significant psychological case histories their theory and practice as well as the controversies surrounding their utility validity and function for an envisioned science of the soul constitutes the core of the book Close and distant F Moretti readings of key texts and figures in the discussion regarding empirical psychology psychologia empirica experiential psychology Erfahrungsseelenkunde and medical psychology medizinische Psychologie such as Christian Wolff J C Kr ger J C Bolton Ernst Nicolai J A Unzer J G Sulzer J G Herder Friedrich Schiller Jacob Friedrich Abel Marcus Herz Karl Philipp Moritz J C Reil Ernst Platner and Immanuel Kant provide the disciplinary historical scientific context within which this genre comes to the fore As the first systematic argument concerning the early history of this genre my thesis is that the psychological case history evolved as part of a pastoral apparatus of care concern guidance and direction for what it fashioned as the unique individual as the discursive medium in a process by which the soul became a self The narrative psychological case history was in fact a meta genre that transcended traditional boundaries of history and fiction medicine and philosophy psychology and anthropology and sought for the first time to explicitly link the experience history memory fantasy previous trauma or suffering of a unique individual to illness deviance aberration and crime In a word it demonstrated as Freud later said of his own case histories in Studies on Hysteria the intimate relation between the history of suffering and the symptoms of illness die innige Beziehung zwischen Leidensgeschichte und Krankheitssymptome This genre not only had a profound and far reaching effect on the evolution of German and European literature one thinks of the rich traditions of the Novella and the
