Coastal Ecosystem Processes:

Coastal Ecosystem Processes Daniel M. Alongi, 2020-11-25 Coastal Ecosystem Processes written by the renowned marine scientist Daniel Alongi describes how pelagic and benthic food webs from beaches and tidal flats to the continental edge process energy and matter This volume focuses on recent advances and new developments on how food webs are closely intertwined with the geology chemistry and physics of coastal seas Dr Alongi presents a process functional approach as a way of understanding how the energetics of coastal ecosystems rely not only on exchanges within and between food chains but how such functions are influenced by terrigenous and atmospheric processes There is a need for documentation and an awareness of just how necessary yet delicate is the interplay of biological and physical forces between coastal ocean land and the atmosphere Marine scientists today need to make informed management decisions about sustainable development and conservation of these fragile ecosystems Coastal Ecosystem Processes provides present and future marine scientists the latest coastal ecosystem information to make the right decisions concerning the ecology of our oceans

Remote Sensing of Aquatic Coastal Ecosystem Processes Laurie L. Richardson, Ellsworth F. LeDrew, 2006-06-11 The aquatic coastal zone is one of the most challenging targets for environmental remote sensing Properties such as bottom reflectance spectrally diverse suspended sediments and phytoplankton communities diverse benthic communities and transient events that affect surface reflectance coastal blooms runoff etc all combine to produce an optical complexity not seen in terrestrial or open ocean systems Despite this complexity remote sensing is proving to be an invaluable tool for Case 2 waters This book presents recent advances in coastal remote sensing with an emphasis on applied science and management Case studies of the operational use of remote sensing in ecosystem studies monitoring and interfacing remote sensing science management are presented Spectral signatures of phytoplankton and suspended sediments are discussed in detail with accompanying discussion of why blue water Case 1 algorithms cannot be applied to Case 2 waters Audience This book is targeted for scientists and managers interested in using remote sensing in the study or management of aquatic coastal environments With only limited discussion of optics and theory presented in the book such researchers might benefit from the detailed presentations of aquatic spectral signatures and to operational management issues While not specifically written for remote sensing scientists it will prove to be a useful reference for this community for the current status of aquatic coastal remote sensing

Physical Regionalization of Coastal Ecosystems of the United States and Its Territories Terry T. Terrell, 1979

Coastal Ecosystems of the Tropics - Adaptive Management Velmurugan Ayyam, Swarnam Palanivel, Sivaperuman Chandrakasan, 2019-10-11 The coastal areas of the tropics are rich in biodiversity natural resources and place of intensive developmental activities as it provides livelihood to millions of people At the same time evidences suggest that several unique coastal ecosystems viz mangroves wetlands salt marshes corals estuaries sand dunes and agro ecosystem are vulnerable to natural disasters and events associated with global climate change In recent times degradation of land water and genetic erosion besides threat to native flora and fauna have been increasing due to unsustainable developmental activities Therefore a paradigm shift in deriving livelihood through conventional methods developmental strategies conservation practices are required for balanced and sustainable growth of the coastal areas This publication strives to cover the status of different natural resources of the coastal region various aspects of degradation process production need and restorative methods besides new technological options and its socio economic implications with case examples Special focus is given to bring out the scope and potential of mangrove based farming integrated and organic farming and its value addition besides the role of coastal vegetations as bioshield in protecting these regions from sea erosion cyclones and tsunami As the tropical coastal areas are vulnerable to climate change events this book also covers the recent weather pattern impacts of climate change and climate resilient technologies besides intuitional linkages and policy framework aimed at balancing development and environmental concerns

The Comparative Roles of Suspension-Feeders in Ecosystems Richard F. Dame, Sergej Olenin, 2005-05-10 Animals are a major link between the water column pelagic and the bottom benthic habitats in most shallow systems This coupling is dominated by active processes such as suspension feeding in which the organism actively uses energy to pump water that is then filtered to remove suspended particles that are consumed while undigested remains are deposited on the bottom As a result of this feeding on and metabolism of particles the animals excrete dissolved inorganic and organic waste back into the water column and thus become major components in the cycling and feedback of essential elements With relatively high weight specific filtration rates of 1 10 liters hour gram dry tissue and a propensity to form large aggregated populations beds reefs schools and swarms these organisms can play an important role in regulating water column processes Although estuarine bivalve molluscs such as oysters and mussels dominate the suspension feeder literature other groups including plankton and nekton that are found in estuarine as well as other aquatic systems are also potentially important removers of suspended particles Thus a significant part of the NATO Advanced Research Workshop focused on suspension feeders as controllers of plankton abundance biomass and diversity system metabolism nutrient cycling and scale dependency Systems dominated by suspension feeders are typically impacted by human activities including recreation aquaculture human and industrial pollution and bilge water from shipping Suspension feeders are often impacted by fisheries and over exploitation These impacts commonly result in changes in ecosystem structure either through the food chain concentration of harmful substances or diseases the introduction of alien species of suspension feeders or the instability of suspension feeders systems through species displacement or phase shifts in the dominance between different suspension feeding components such as nekton or zooplankton These issues were addressed near the close of the workshop along with conclusions and syntheses developed by the working groups
