

How to hold a camera

It's worth taking a few minutes to practise holding your camera before you start shooting – you'll get sharper shots

FINGER

The camera body is designed to be gripped with your right hand and your index finger over the shutter release. You should be able to squeeze the shutter when it's time to take a picture.

HAND

Place your palm in your left hand. This should be able to hold the front of the camera against your face with the hand holding your right hand against the camera.

ELBOWS

Turn your elbows into your body to brace your camera steady. The further out your elbows are, the more unstable you will be.

EYEBROW CONTACT

Let the camera rest on your eye and rest the viewfinder against your forehead. This helps another point of contact on the body for more stability.

PORTRAIT

If you're used to holding your camera in portrait orientation, then turn it over on the other side of the lens. It can be a little awkward, but you'll get more stability.

LEGS

Place your feet with your feet in your stance. If you're standing on a flat surface, you can stand on a flat surface. If you're standing on a uneven surface, you can stand on a uneven surface.

TAKE A MAT

When standing in a flat area, you can stand on a flat surface. If you're standing on a uneven surface, you can stand on a uneven surface.

BACK PANEL CONTROL

With your hands in the correct position, your thumb is well placed to control the camera on the back of the camera. Use the settings.

BRING ONE LEG UP

By sitting down with a kneeling position and bringing your leg up, you can rest your body on the camera. Place your elbow on your knee to connect your leg and arm together, creating a second point of contact with the ground.

BEST ELBOWS

If you have a flat surface, you can stand on a flat surface. If you're standing on a uneven surface, you can stand on a uneven surface.

CONTROL YOUR BREATHING

When you take a picture, you should be able to hold your breath. If you're standing on a uneven surface, you can stand on a uneven surface.

LEAN IN

Leaning against a wall or other object is a good way to hold your camera. This can be useful when shooting in a tight space without a tripod.
