

New Year's Eve

Countdown Balloons Instructions

You will need:

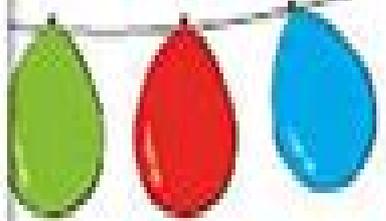

- balloons
- paper
- pen
- scissors
- weight (bag of rice or beans)
- permanent marker pen
- Countdown Clocks, printed (optional)
- marking line, string or similar
- glue
- glue or staples (optional)

Instructions:

- 1 Gather enough balloons to last the evening, depending on how long you would like your party to be. For example, if your party starts at 8pm and you would like your children to last until midnight, you'll need around six balloons. If you would like them to go to bed at 10pm and have a 'jolly' midnight, you would need around four balloons. You could also do some activities earlier and plan out a whole day of celebrating and getting ready for the party.
- 2 For each balloon, write out an activity like (see below) onto a strip of paper and roll it so that you can slip it inside the balloon. You may wish to write it on a sticky note or piece of cello paper so that you can label the outside of the balloon and not forget which is which.
- 3 Add weight to the inside of each balloon.
- 4 Blow up the balloons and tie them with the activity and weight inside.

- 1 Print enough Countdown Clocks (optional) so that you have one for each balloon.
- 2 Draw hands onto the Countdown Clocks - these could be on the hour (100pm, 100pm, 100pm, etc) or minutes (time to keep children on their toes (10/1pm, 10/1pm, 10/1pm, 10/1pm, etc).
- 3 If you would prefer, you can draw your own countdown clock onto the balloons using permanent marker pen.
- 4 Hangs length of marking line, string or similar in your party area.
- 5 Use tape to hang each balloon in sequence along the line.
- 6 As each time occurs, encourage your child to carefully pop the balloon (with a pin or similar) and find the activity inside. That's the activity you'll do until you reach the time shown on the next balloon!
