Letters of Credit and Demand Guarantees: Defences to Payment Deborah Horowitz,2010-06-10 This book is the first to provide an extensive analysis of the range of defences to payment under letters of credit and demand guarantees It considers the extent to which different defences undermine the abstraction of these instruments This is a fundamental issue since letters of credit and demand guarantees are designed to be abstract or autonomous from the underlying contract that called for their use The purpose of that abstraction is to provide certainty of payment but the various defences diminish that certainty The book examines the spectrum of defences that are frequently litigated and debated in international practice fraud in the documents nullity fraud affecting deferred payment letters of credit fraud as no honest belief unconscionable conduct and illegality. Vivaldi: the book provides analysis of the relevant judicial decisions and offers clear practical guidance on which defences are most suitable for each instrument. As the instruments are heavily used in international trade, this work is particularly suited to financial and commercial law practitioners who draft agreements as well as those who advise on disputes concerning these instruments. Accessible and engaging, the book is also relevant for academics and students. TV Guide, 1996. Business Review Weekly, 1998. The Publishers Weekly, 1996. Zitty, 2000. Variability in Early Communicative Development Larry Fenson, 1994. Drawing on parents' reports of more than 1,800 children, this monograph describes in detail both typical and exceptional courses of communicative development between the ages of eight and thirty months. The authors' large dataset offers unusually specific information on the developmentally variable course of individual lexical, gestural, and grammatical skills. The wide variability found among children's acquisition of these skills presents a challenge to the concept of the model child and will intrigue developmental psychologists as well as linguists interested in language acquisition. Reference Book Dun and Bradstreet, Inc., 1929.
