Cabignment Cuenca Letters From The Front Line:

If You're Reading This . . . Siân Price, 2012-02-29 Three centuries of war Three centuries of sacrifice Tales of love and heroism from conflicts such as the Napoleonic Wars and Afghanistan today The Mirror In this brilliant and profoundly moving collection of farewell letters written by servicemen and women to their loved ones Si n Price offers a remarkable insight into the hearts and minds of some of the soldiers sailors and airmen of the past three hundred years Each letter provides an enduring snapshot of an impossible moment in time when an individual stares death squarely in the face Some were written or dictated as the person lay mortally wounded many were written on the eve of a great charge or battle others were written by soldiers who experienced premonitions of their death or by kamikaze pilots and condemned prisoners They write of the grim realities of battle of daily hardships of unquestioning patriotism or bitter regrets of religious fervor or political disillusionment of unrelenting optimism or sinking morale and above all they write of their love for their family and the desire to return to them one day Be it an epitaph dictated on a Napoleonic battlefield a staunch unsentimental letter written by a Victorian officer or an email from a soldier in modern day Afghanistan these voices speak eloquently and forcefully of the tragedy of war and answer that fundamental human need to say goodbye The poignant farewells encapsulate the final words of servicemen to their loved ones before they were killed in action The Telegraph A timely reminder of the tremendous sacrifices made by fighting men and women of all countries in all ages Military History Monthly Yankee

Correspondence Nina Silber, Mary Beth Sievens, 1996 They are grouped by six major themes the military experience the meaning of the war views of the South politics on the home front the personal sacrifices of war and the correspondence of one New England family "A Letter from the Front Line" William Lacey Amy, 1943 Dispatches from the Heart Jamie Ambrose, 2004-11 Dispatches from the Heart is a tribute to the courage of soldiers at the front line of battle during the 19th and 20th centuries and to the relationships they shared with their loved ones waiting at home Heartbreaking and vividly descriptive these letters to wives sweethearts and family members speak of loneliness and hilarity boredom and the terrifying excitement of action the companionship of friends and the agony of loss Many of the writers never returned while others made it back to continue their lives Love Letters from the Front Lines Nan Booth, 2022-08-23 This is a unique war story based on more than 350 letters that the author's father wrote to her mother from the front lines in Italy in 1944 and 1945 These are love letters deeply intimate While vividly recounting the brutal life of a combat soldier they also reveal the intense connection between the author's mother and father Through extensive quotes from the letters the book conveys in powerful detail what he thought felt and experienced as a company commander in combat Her letters do not survive but his responses to her show the strength of their relationship They write about mutual friends the quotidian details of their lives the weather food the war news They tease each other They send each other gifts and photos They dream about life after the war Sometimes they quarrel he worries about money and chides her about her spending habits She becomes frustrated over irregular and delayed mail and blames him for it But every letter conveys his love for her his aching for her his sense of being with her despite the distance and the war This is also the story of the war itself of dangerous night patrols German artillery supplies coming to the front by mule days and days with no sleep dead and wounded soldiers German war prisoners and finally victory This poignant juxtaposition of the personal and the historical based on a rare quantity of first hand material is spellbinding and inspiring

A Reporter at Armageddon Will Irwin, 2015-07-13 Excerpt from A Reporter at Armageddon Letters From the Front and Behind the Lines of the Great War To night this little Spanish jitney steamer is eleven days from New York and twelve hours perhaps from her home port of Cadiz just outside of the Strait of Gibraltar Since we passed the Azores three days ago we have been steering a curved course but for that we should have reached port already Approaching the Strait of Gibraltar is dangerous just now even for a strictly neutral ship Between the Pillars of Hercules the German mine laying submarines are busy and the currents carry the mines out into the broad Atlantic For that reason we steered north and just after sunset this evening a flashing light announced our approach to the Spanish Coast We have been hugging the three mile limit ever since and across the severe shore which we can make out in the beams of a new moon comes the distant gleam of town lights
