move This is Beckett's poetic construct of the human condition Lois Gordon author of The World of Samuel Beckett has written this introduction to Beckett's great work for general readers students and specialists Critically and historically informed it approaches the play scene by scene exploring the text linguistically philosophically critically and biographically Gordon argues that the play portrays more than the rational mind's search for self and worldly definition It also dramatises Beckett's insights into human nature into the emotional life that frequently invades rationality and liberates victimises or paralyzes the individual Gordon shows that Beckett portrays humanity in conflict with mysterious forces both within and outside the self and that he is an artist of the psychic distress born of relativism

Craffert, 2024-05-28 Consciousness is central to the quest for being human and for what the world is made of While there is widespread agreement on the significance of consciousness for clarifying the human condition there is no agreement on the phenomenon in search of theorising Although there is no shortage of theories and concepts of consciousness in current consciousness research the dominant critical analysis of consciousness research in this study although based on existing analyses is as far as I can see new and unique in arguing for a crisis in consciousness research This book touches on most aspects of consciousness research the hard problem of consciousness neural correlates of consciousness brain models and consciousness consciousness and dualistic thinking etc but is a critical analysis of consciousness research It is not an insider but a third person perspective on current consciousness research In this regard it differs from most introductions and overviews where these topics are presented from a first person perspective the insiders claim about their research Representing the broad spectrum of consciousness research in terms of the theoretical framework of a neuro ecological perspective is a new and innovative move
