

The American Flag by William Parsons Lunt

Flag of our mighty Union, hail!
Blessings abound where thou dost float;
Best robe for living Freedom's form,
Fit pall to spread upon her tomb,
Should Heaven to death devote.
Wave over us in glory still,
And be our guardian as now!
Each wind of heaven salute thy streaks!
And withered be the arm that seeks
To bring that banner low!

I, the Song Adolph L. Soens, 1999 I the Song is an introduction to the rich and complex classical North American poetry that grew of and reflects Indian life before the European invasion No generalization can hold true for all the classical poems of North American Indians They spring from thirty thousand years of experience five hundred languages and dialects and ten linguistic groups and general cultures But the poems from these different cultures and languages belong to poetry unified by similar experiences and a shared continent Built on early transcriptions of Native American songs and arranged by subject these poems are informed by additional context that enables readers to appreciate more fully their imagery their cultural basis and the moment that produced them They let us look at our continent through the eyes of a wide range of people poets hunters farmers holy men and women and children This poetry achieved its vividness clarity and intense emotional power partly because the singers made their poems for active use as well as beauty and also because they made them for singing or chanting rather than isolated reading Most strikingly classical North American Indian poetry brings us flashes of timeless vision and absolute perception a gulfs wing red over the dawn snow capped peaks in the moonlight a death song Flowing beneath them is a powerful current the urge to achieve a selfless attention to the universe and a determination to see and delight in that universe on its own terms
