The teacher's role is to create a supportive and challenging learning environment. This involves setting clear expectations, providing feedback, and fostering a growth mindset. The teacher should also be a role model, demonstrating the values and attitudes they wish to instill in their students. In a constructivist approach, the teacher acts as a facilitator, guiding students as they explore and discover knowledge for themselves. This requires a deep understanding of the subject matter and the ability to adapt to the needs of individual learners. The teacher should encourage collaboration and peer learning, as well as critical thinking and problem-solving skills. By creating a safe space for inquiry and discussion, the teacher can help students develop a love of learning and a sense of ownership over their education.
