Beyond The Great Story History As Text And Discourse:

Beyond the Great Story Robert F. Berkhofer, 1995 What legitimate form can history take when faced by the severe challenges issued in recent years by literary rhetorical multiculturalist and feminist theories That is the question considered in this pathbreaking book Robert Berkhofer addresses the essential practical concern of contemporary historians

Fashioning History R. Berkhofer, 2008-12-08 This book offers historians and aspiring historians a learned absorbing and comprehensive overview of current fashions of method interpretation and meaning in the context of postmodernism that has washed over the historical profession in the last two decades The Houses of History Anna Green, Kathleen Troup, 1999-03 Provides a comprehensive introduction to the twelve schools of thought which have had the greatest influence on the study of history in the twentieth century Ranging from Empiricism to Postcolonialism Marxism to the Ethnohistorians each chapter begins with an introduction to the particular school the main protagonists the critics and is followed by a useful section of further readings From the classic such as G R Elton s England Under the Tudors and E P Thompson s The Making of the English Working Class to the recent such as Henrietta Whiteman s White Buffalo Woman and Judith Walkowitz s City of Dreadful Delight the diverse selections collected here bring together the leading historians and theorists of the century

History, Theory, Text Elizabeth A. Clark, 2009-07-01 A historian of early Christianity considers various theoretical critiques to examine the problems and opportunities posed by the ways in which history is written Clark argues for a renewal of the study of premodern Western history through engagement with the critical methods that have transformed other humanities disciplines in recent decades Ideas in History Vol. 6:2 Ben Dorfman, 2013-05-10 This issue of Ideas in History encompasses a special issue on the history of economic thought plus a provocative paper taking on issues of text historiography and deconstructive thought in cultural history "Trading Magic for Fact," Fact for Magic Marc Colavincenzo, 2021-10-18 This study brings together three major areas of interest history postmodern fiction and myth Whereas neither history and postmodern fiction nor history and myth are strangers to one another postmodernism and myth are odd bedfellows For many critics postmodern thought with its resistance to metanarratives stands in direct and deliberate contrast to myth with its apparent tendency to explain the world by means of neat complete narratives There is a strain of postmodern Canadian historical fiction in which myth actually forms a complement not only to postmodernism s suspicion of master narratives but also to its privileging of those marginal and at times ignored areas of history The fourteen works of Canadian fiction considered demonstrate a doubled impulse which at first glance seems contradictory On the one hand they go about demythologizing in the Barthesian sense various elements of historical discourse exposing its authority as not simply a natural given but as a construct This includes the fact that the view of history portrayed in the fiction has been either underrepresented or suppressed by official historiography On the other hand the history is then re mythologized in that it becomes part of a pre existing myth its mythic elements are foregrounded myth and magic are woven into the narrative or it is portrayed as extraordinary in some way The result is an empowering of these histories for the future they are made larger than life and unforgettable

At the Limits of History Keith Jenkins, 2013-02-01 Why bother with history Keith Jenkins has an answer He helps us re think the end of history as signalled by postmodernity Readers may disagree with him but he never fails to provoke debate about the future of the past Joanna Bourke Professor of History Birkbeck College Keith Jenkins work on historical theory is renowned this collection presents the essential elements of his work over the last fifteen years Here we see Jenkins address the difficult and complex question of defining the limits of history The collection draws together the key pieces of his work in one handy volume encompassing the ever controversial issue of postmodernism and history questions on the end of history and radical history into the future Exchanges with Perez Zagorin and Michael Coleman further illuminate the level of debate that has surrounded postmodernism and which continues to do so An extended introduction and abstracts which contextualize each piece together with a foreword by Hayden White and an afterword by Alun Munslow make this collection essential reading for all those interested in the theory and practice of history and its development over the last few decades

The Interdisciplinary Century Julia V. Douthwaite, Mary Vidal, 2005 Judging by most contemporary accounts the virtues of cross disciplinary research teaching and scholarship are above reproach Conference organisers announce with pride that interdisciplinary research teams Such activity is especially pertinent to eighteenth century studies The Republic of Letters inspired scholars scientists artists and writers to engage in spirited multilingual and long term correspondence with colleagues throughout Europe As many contributors to this timely and provocative volume argue a certain kind of interdisciplinarity is required for any consideration of eighteenth century topics But what impact has this enthusiasm for interdisciplinarity had on our understanding of objects monuments texts and events of the past Born of an intense series of debates this volume takes on current controversies with unflinching honesty Contributors address questions of theory and practice Does interdisciplinary investigation carry any meaningful challenge to the disciplines themselves or are we merely trading one kind of evidence for another What institutional constraints work against such research and teaching Is interdisciplinarity a pressing preoccupation of scholars in France and the UK as it is in the US The introduction provides a critical history of interdisciplinarity and outlines the key tensions of university life as experienced by students and scholars in the US the UK and France Position papers provide state of the field analyses some invigorating or even utopian others darkly brooding Case studies present examples of contemporary work showing what might happen when a literary scholar confronts a pornographer s battles when an art historian takes on an undisciplined object or perhaps most intriguing when a practising attorney evaluates legal approaches to literature

Encyclopedia of Historians and Historical Writing Kelly Boyd, 1999 Contains over 800 entries ranging from Lord Acton and Anna Comnena to Howard Zinn and Herodotus to Simon Schama Over 300 contributors have composed critical assessments of historians from the beginning of historical writing to the present day including individuals from Bulletin, 2000 Future West William Henry Katerberg, 2008 What is the future of the American West This book look at works of utopian dystopian and apocalyptic science fiction to show how narratives of the past and future powerfully shape our understanding of the present day West

The Historicism of Charles Brockden Brown Mark Kamrath, 2010 A new perspective on the cultural politics of Charles Brockden Brown The novels of Charles Brockden Brown the most accomplished literary figure in early America redefined the gothic genre and helped shape some of America s greatest writers including Herman Melville Edgar Allan Poe and Nathaniel Hawthorne However little has been said about the latter years of Brown s career While his early novels are celebrated for their innovative and experimental style Brown s later historical narratives are often dismissed as uninteresting and Brown himself has been accused of having become a stodgy conservative Through a re examination of these neglected historical writings Mark L Kamrath takes a fresh look at Brown s later career and his role in the cultural politics of the early national period This interdisciplinary study uses transatlantic historical contexts and recent narrative discourse to unveil Brown s philosophic inquires into the filiopietistic tradition of historiography and increasingly imperialistic notion of American exceptionalism It recovers a forgotten debate and radical position about the nature of historical truth and representation and opens up for contemporary discussion what it means to write about the past History and Theory, 2002 More Than a Farmers's Wife Amy Mattson Lauters, 2005 Hastings Law Journal, 1997 Medieval Spirituality in Scandinavia and Europe Tore Nyberg, 2001 Tore Nyberg senior lecturer at the University of Southern Denmark in Odense celebrated his seventieth birthday on January 4 2001 For that occasion a group of his colleagues and former pupils have wished to pay homage to Tore Nyberg with a festschrift His is a household name in Birgittine studies but he has made valuable contributions within a number of other fields the introduction and growth of Christianity in Scandinavia the integration of Scandinavia and the Baltic Region in the cultural sphere of the Latin West always with an eye to relations with and influences from the East urban history and monasticism in general Within all these fields he has mastered both the detailed study and the comprehensive synthesis Critical Self-fashioning Jürgen Pieters, 1999 Friedrich Nietzsche and Alexis De Tocqueville on the Possibility of History Paul Petrequin, 1997 Encyclopedia of European Social History from 1350 to 2000 Peter N.
