Beyond Feminism Cornelius F. Murphy, 1995-01-01 The discussion in this study of the relations between men and women is launched from a crucial premise that the struggle for equal rights for women has reached a point where collaboration rather than confrontation between the sexes is necessary for continued progress In order to attain true equality women and men must recognize their legitimate differences and act together under circumstances in which their distinctive contributions are freely and reciprocally acknowledged Reflecting on these differences in a series of interwoven essays Cornelius F Murphy seeks to open a constructive dialogue between the sexes Reconciliation is his overarching concern Murphy begins his study with an exploration of sexual oppression through the ages and its effect on both sexes He discusses subtle and fundamental differences between masculine and feminine disposition reasoning and ways of knowing He addresses the distinctions that traditionally have been drawn between public and private life and efforts of modern women to overcome them It is suggested that uncomplimentary though fact based assessments of the masculine record in history together with prevailing stereotypes of men leave an incomplete picture of male identity and contribute to mistrust between the sexes In response Murphy investigates various ways of imagining a more elevated manhood He extends his analysis to the subject of equality within the home the opportunities and demands of married love and the tensions and joys of procreation

Beyond Feminism and Islamism Doris H. Gray, 2012-11-08 Are women in North Africa and the Middle East feminist Or is being a Muslim incompatible with feminism Is there such a thing as Islamic feminism Through interviews with Moroccan activists and jurists both male and female and by situating these interviews within their socio political and economic contexts Doris Gray addresses these questions By doing so she attempts to move beyond the simple bifurcation of feminist and Islamist to look at the many facets of internal gender discourse within one Muslim country allowing for a more nuanced understanding of the discussion on women s rights in the Muslim world in general By marking out a third way that looks beyond feminism and Islamism Gray presents religion and faith not as blocking gender equality but as a source of inspiration to explore new ways of conceiving modernity While Western models are taken into consideration within Morocco the men and women involved in this third way of understanding gender and equality inevitably negotiate internal tensions between what has been dubbed tradition and modernity thus incorporating national and cultural identity post colonialism and religious principles into their gender discourse Examining issues such as gender equality gender justice abortion and gay rights Gray explores the nexus of gender religion and democracy in modern Morocco and the ways in which different groups understand these ideas Many of the world s pressing twenty first century problems are embodied within Morocco s borders tensions between the West and the Muslim world minority rights migration the role of religion in a modern society and the issue this book is chiefly concerned with women s rights The status and the role of women is one of the most hotly debated topics throughout the Middle East and North Africa and this is particularly visible through this discussion of what it means to engage with and promote feminist thought and actions in the region
