Beyond Childlessness:

Beyond Childlessness Rachel Black, Louise Scull, 2005 Childlessness is a growing issue throughout the developed world Current estimates suggest that 2025% of women now of childbearing age will not for a variety of reasons ever have a child This sensitive and intelligent book offers support shared experience and practical strategies to those for whom childlessness is not a positive choice but a circumstance they have to learn to live with Even now many women find it very difficult to discuss this emotive topic with family and friends so this ground breaking and accessible book will be profoundly and widely welcomed This book is unique there is nothing on the market dealing with childlessness in this way Includes a very wide range of personal stories reflecting the myriad reasons why women do not have children FINDING JOY BEYOND CHILDLISSNESS LESLEY. PYNE, 2019 Refiguring Motherhood Beyond Biology Valerie Renegar, Kirsti Cole, 2023-01-31 This book unpacks and interrogates dominant constructions of mothering making use of interdisciplinary ideological and theoretical perspectives to investigate how new rhetorics of mothering can expand the realm of maternal care givers beyond the biological definitions of motherhood This diverse collection is at the cutting edge of rhetoric feminism and motherhood studies and the chapters challenge the confines of biological parenting as heteronormative within the neo liberal nuclear family The contributors examine how despite the diversity of parental relationships many are excluded by the understanding of mothers biologically tied to their children The volume seeks to expose the underpinnings of biological primacy and argues that 21st century families and familial circumstances are ill served by biological ideology Topics include Re Imagining Queer Black Motherhood Chicana Feminist approaches to reproductive justice the commercialization and medicalization of infertility and ableism and motherhood This is a unique and fascinating book suitable for students and scholars in gender studies sexuality studies communication studies sociology and cultural studies Already Complete Vivienne Edgecombe, 2018-04-24 There is a belief that many of us have taken as truth that if you want children and can't have them you will be sad for the rest of your life Until now it's been accepted that the best we can hope for is to find ways to cope with or come to terms with our grief and that the journey will be a long and painful one But what if that's not true What if you are already complete and your peace of mind happiness and fulfilment are not dependent on whether you have children What if you can just be happy Join me as I explore ten myths about childlessness that have masqueraded as truth until now and point you towards a much more helpful understanding of how we work as human beings Beyond Motherhood Jeanne Safer, 1996-02 Women from all over the country share their experiences and offer insights into what it is like not having children and describe what factors helped shape their decision to remain childless Researching Lesser-Explored Issues in Counselling and Psychotherapy Peter Madsen Gubi, 2018-05-08 The authors have brought together important research into little explored topics that are applicable to the field of counselling and psychotherapy Each contributor has undertaken qualitative research into their chosen topic and this book disseminates that research in a highly accessible manner The aim of the volume is to inform counsellors and psychotherapists and those in allied professions who support and care for people towards developing a greater awareness of issues they may encounter These include sexuality after breast cancer in young single women the impact of pregnancy loss on women who delayed childbirth and remain childless adult reflections on being an only child processing parental rejection through personal development the nature of school based counselling the impact of emotional labour on secondary school teachers and the impact of inappropriately referred clients on counselling trainees in placement

Childlessness in the Age of Communication Cristina Archetti,2020-03-25 Cristina Archetti started researching childlessness after being diagnosed with unexplained infertility She soon discovered that although involuntary childlessness affects an increasing number of women and men across the world this topic is shrouded taboo and shame This book is both a first person reflection about the existential questions posed by involuntary childlessness and a readable account of the way the silence surrounding this topic is socially and politically constructed Revealing the invisible mechanisms that from the microscopic details of everyday life to policy make up the structure of silence around childlessness Archetti demonstrates what it means not to have children in a society that is organized around families Through a prose that mixes analysis excerpts of interviews media fragments and evocative writing she develops a new language of feeling in the body fit for the twenty first century and exposes the devastating effects infertility has on relationships identity health and well being in societies that fetishize parenthood Childlessness in the Age of Communication draws upon a range of disciplines and fields including sociology health gender and sexuality studies communication politics and anthropology It is a book for all those interested in childlessness and innovative qualitative research methodologies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license
