The Documentary Makers David A. Goldsmith, 2003 A series of in their own words interviews with 15 directors whose work has in some way extended the boundary of the documentary They constitute a tiny proportion of those working in the field but they represent the state of the documentary across the world from the limited resources of China s only independent director with no access to his nation's television to the big budget series that attract tens of millions of American viewers. Some will only work on film with all its paraphernalia of moviemaking while others insist on working alone with nothing more than a Handicam. Some question even abhor the use of commentary others wouldn't dream of doing without. Some work by the rules of cinema verite and some use dramatization while still labeling their work documentary. Regardless of the where and the how they all seek to reproduce reality whatever that might be.

Book jacket Chinese Independent Cinema Chris Berry, Luke Robinson, Sabrina Qiong Yu, Lydia Wu, 2025-10-01 Independent cinema in China is not only made outside the commercial system but also without being submitted for censorship. We know that for several decades it has been the crucible out of which China's most exciting new films have flowed. The essays in this volume interrogate what else we think we know. Did it really start with Wu Wenguang and Bumming in Beijing in 1990 or can its roots be traced back much earlier? What are its aesthetics? And its ethics including of gender and class? Where do audiences watch these films in China and how do they circulate? And since the 2017 Film Law defined uncensored films as illegal is independent Chinese cinema still alive? What does it mean today? And does it have a future? The essays in this anthology many by exciting new scholars explore these urgent questions.
