Do Mice Eat Rice:

Do Mice Eat Rice? Al Wight, 2012-11-06 Told in Rhyme with hilarious illustrations this book wonders how different animals would react when they try new foods I m Not the Nanny Did you ever wonder why we eat what we do And why we turn up our nose at something new Why some people like what others don t Why some people eat what others won t Do you think that s true of other creatures too Do Mice Eat Rice is a witty rhyming story by author Al Wight with humorous and imaginative illustrations by Roger Clarke Children are encouraged by this multicultural children s book to consider what animals might or might not eat and by extension what other people in different parts of the world from different cultures eat that is very different from what we do Children will learn to eat lots of new foods and be introduced to new animals in a fun way

Javanese Lives Walter L. Williams, 1991 Java is the most populous island of Indonesia the fifth largest nation in the world Yet despite its importance outsiders know little about the country or its people With the help of Indonesian students and scholars Walter L Williams has collected and translated the life histories of twenty seven Javanese women and men The people interviewed tell how they have coped with rapid social and economic change and the transformation of their traditions Williams has carefully selected the individuals he includes to represent a wide diversity of Java s people We hear from fascinating men and women of various religions from the rich and the poor and from different ethnic backgrounds Diversity is a constant theme as evidenced by a poor pedicab driver who can barely scrape along by a rich businesswoman who explains how she balances her professional and domestic roles by an educated and respected homosexual school principal and by an illiterate mother of fourteen children All of them present in their lives a unique Javanese approach to living These oral histories were derived from elderly people who have a larger perspective on the changes they have seen in their lifetimes The focus of the first section of the book is the way people have adapted in their daily lives to massive social and economic changes In the middle section we hear from the Javanese who represent traditional values in the midst of change Finally we hear from educators and parents who tell us of their concerns for Indonesian youth and the future of Indonesia
