Faulkner and the Natural World Donald M. Kartiganer, Ann J. Abadie, 1999 Although he belonged to an American generation of writers deeply influenced by the high modernist revolt against nature and against the self imposed limits of realism to a palpable world William Faulkner reveals throughout his work an abiding sensitivity to the natural world He writes of the big woods of animals and of the human body as a ground of being that art and culture can neither transcend nor completely control The eleven essays that make up this volume including a paper written by the acclaimed novelist William Kennedy explore the place of the unbuilt world in Faulkner s fiction They give particular attention to the social mythic and economic significance of nature to the complexity of racial identity and to the inevitable clash of gender and sexuality These essays were presented in 1996 as papers at the Faulkner and Yoknapatawpha Conference held annually at the University of Mississippi Included are the following Lawrence Buell s Faulkner and the Claims of the Natural World Thomas L. McHaney s Oversexing the Natural World Theresa M. Towner s Color Race and Identity in Faulkner s Fiction Jay

Watson's The Art of the Literal in Light in August Mary Joanne Dondlinger's The Matter of Race and Gender in Faulkner's Light in August Louise Westling's Sutpen's Marriage to the Dark Body of the Land Myra Jehlen's Faulkner and the Unnatural Diane Roberts's Eula Linda and the Death of Nature David H. Obscurity's Myriad Components R. Rio-Jelliffe, 2001. On that paradoxical premise Faulkner's theory addresses the writer's dilemma of having only the inadequate word to surmount itself and the practice in fiction seeks to vanquish the enemy not in the wordless as it is often denoted but in silence past the word. BOOK JACKET

Possessing the Past Lisa Hinrichsen, 2015-06-15. Employing recent theories of memory from multiple areas of study Possessing the Past illuminates the tangled relationships among trauma, fantasy, and the public sphere and their impact on the South in imagination and in reality. Focusing on the roles that narrative and fantasy play in creating a sense of regional distinctiveness, Lisa Hinrichsen brings a wealth of critical scholarship to her consideration of memory and southern literature. Hinrichsen's nuanced readings of a diverse group of southern authors, including William Faulkner, Roberto Fernándeز, Erna Brodber, Monique Truong, and Katharine Du Pre Lumpkin, offer new ways of conceptualizing memory, place, and history. She unravels southern literature's critical confrontation with the region's history through complex systems of remembrance and erasure and she traces how fantasy mediates trauma and adjudicates identity. Expansive in its psychoanalytical approach, her work explores issues of law, testimony, and social justice; the role of nostalgic fantasies of gentility at midcentury; the relationship between white empathy and social fantasy; the resemblance of regional patterns of disavowal to national ideologies of forgetting in Vietnam-era fiction; and the impact of contemporary multicultural literature on memory and community. Possessing the Past broadens the theoretical framework used to conceptualize memory and trauma while grounding traumatic testimony in the specifics of time and place amply offered by southern literature. It provides new readings of an array of southern writers and deepens our understanding of the continuing importance of history, memory, and fantasy in the literature of the U.S. South.

Critical Essays on William Faulkner Arthur F. Kinney, 1996. An understanding of the Sutpen Family group of William Faulkner's fiction is not only requisite for persons literate in American fiction but it is also foundational to any study of Southern culture and of the plantation aristocracy. This study gathers critical essays from the first publications to the most recent thought on the Sutpen grouping of Faulkner's fiction.
