Travieso-Diaz, 1997 The re entry of foreign based businesses into Cuba will require a complete overhaul of Cuba's laws and legal institutions It will also require enactment of major new legislation there designed to enable and facilitate modern business transactions Travieso Diaz identifies these necessary legal political and economic changes integrating legal and economic concepts in a way that businesspeople can understand and use in determining when it will be safe for them to reestablish business ties with Cuba An important readable resource for corporate management and their academic colleagues specializing in international business trade and investment Using a practical results oriented approach Travieso Diaz organizes his book into three parts In Part One he discusses the specific political and economic changes that must occur and how U S policy must be modified to permit resumption of commerce between the two countries Part Two covers the main legal concerns of a foreign business entity seeking to invest in Cuba such as the resolution of property confiscation claims by U S and Cuban nationals the enactment of a suitable foreign investment law and the development of a program for the privatization of state owned enterprises Part Three surveys other legal issues important to foreign investors and to others who prefer trade with Cuba rather than investment in it Travieso Diaz also provides checklists of changes that must occur in each area he covers trade investment privatization to provide business decisionmakers with a way of determining when it makes sense to enter the Cuban market He also identifies the laws that the Cuban government must enact and the most favorable form they should take to encourage full participation from other nations The Official History of Privatisation Vol. I David Parker,2009 UNCTAD Bulletin ,1995 Privatization and Regulatory Change in Europe Michael Moran,Tony Prosser,1994 Company Management and Capital Market Development in the Transition Marvin R. Jackson,Valentijn Bilsen,1994 This text discusses the development of company management and capital markets in the rapidly changing Central and Eastern Europe It covers topics such as different privatization methods in different countries and financial structure performance and the banks of these countries Is Debt Replacing Equity in Regulated Privatized Infrastructure in Developing Countries? Luis Correia Da Silva,Antonio Estache,Sakari Jarvela,2004 Da Silva Estache and Jarvel describe the evolution of the financing structure of regulated privatized utilities and transport companies To do so they rely on a sample of 121 utilities distributed over 16 countries and 23 transport infrastructure operators and 23 transport services operators distributed over 23 countries The authors show that leverage rates vary significantly across sectors with the highest rates observed in transport and the lowest in water Moreover they also show that the 1997 Asia crisis led operators to adjust their financial structure differently in different regions Overall the evidence they present shows that debt is replacing equity in financing the investment needs of utilities and transport services in developing countries These results raise some questions as to whether the regulator s mandate should be expanded to monitor the financial structure of companies and as to whether the international community should make a stronger commitment to more transparent regulatory accounting systems This paper a product of the Office of the Vice President Infrastructure Network is part of a larger effort in the network to generate quantitative information on infrastructure World Bank web site Tax Notes International ,1994 The Economist ,1994 Catalogue of United Nations Publications ,1995 Journal of Financial Economics Graduate School of Management,Harvard University,University of Rochester,1997 Published Elsevier 2004
