Achieving Effective Desegregation Al Smith, Anthony Downs, M. Leanne Lachman, 1973 Court-ordered School Busing United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on the Judiciary. Subcommittee on Separation of Powers, 1982 The Journal of the Assembly During the ... Session of the Legislature of the State of California California. Legislature. Assembly, 1961 Research in Education, 1974 Eliminating Racism Phyllis A. Katz, Dalmas A. Taylor, 2013-06-29 The chapters presented here provide the reader with an awareness of the divergent views of what constitutes racism and frameworks for reducing it This book points out that the dialogue and research on this subject since the mid 1970s have yielded increased controversy over the theories foundation and continued existence of racism Ironically what we viewed in the 1954 Brown decision and the Civil Rights Act of 1964 as the beginning of the end of racism turned out to be the beginning of confusion over the course of action to ensure societal acceptance of political mandates Hence the title of this book captures the essence of the emotional core of any forum for examining racism past and present One of the most controversial forums has been that of education beginning with the U S Supreme Court's 1954 ruling in Brown v Board of Education Behind every event that has spawned controversy is a profile in courage It was not a simple decision for the players in the scenario of the Brown v Board of Education case to step forward and present themselves as evidence of discrimination Black parents supported by black organizations viewed this legal action as a chance for equal opportunity Yet the 1950s were a time when black communities were pained by the thought that bigotry and institutional racism would forever stand in the way of their achieving equality Resources in Education, 1974-07 From Brown to Boston: Articles and books Leon Jones, 1979 Desegregating Public Schools David R. Morgan, 1982 Achieving Effective Desegregation, [by] Al Smith, Anthony Downs [and] M. Leanne Lachman Ali Smith, Anthony Downs, M. Leanne Lachman, 1973 Desegregating Big City Schools Robert E. WHITTEN, 1982 Studies of Educational Problems Involved in School Integration National Education Association of the United States. Research Division, 1960 Changing Urban Education Clarence Nathan Stone, 1998 With critical issues like desegregation and funding facing our schools dissatisfaction with public education has reached a new high Teachers decry inadequate resources while critics claim educators are more concerned with job security than effective teaching Though urban education has reached crisis proportions contending players have difficulty agreeing on a common program of action This book tells why Changing Urban Education confronts the prevailing naivete in school reform by examining the factors that shape reinforce or undermine reform efforts Edited by one of the nation's leading urban scholars it examines forces for change and resistance in urban education and proposes that the barrier to reform can only be overcome by understanding how schools fit into the broader political contexts of their cities Much of the problem with our schools lies with the reluctance of educators to recognize the profoundly political character of public education The contributors show how urban political contexts vary widely with factors like racial composition the role of the teachers union and relations between cities and surrounding metropolitan areas Presenting case studies of original field research in Baltimore Chicago Houston and six other urban areas they consider how resistance to desegregation and the concentration of the poor in central urban areas affect education and they suggest how cities can build support for reform through the involvement of business and other community players By demonstrating the complex interrelationship between urban education and politics this book shows schools to be not just places for educating children but also major employers and large spenders of tax dollars It also introduces the concept of civic capacity the ability of educators and non educators to work together on common goals and suggests that this key issue must be addressed before education can be improved Changing Urban Education makes it clear to educators that the outcome of reform efforts depends heavily on their political context as it reminds political scientists that education is a major part of the urban mix While its prognosis is not entirely optimistic it sets forth important guidelines that cannot be ignored if our schools are to successfully prepare children for the future
