Drawings And Paintings A Retrospective:

David Hockney Ulrich Luckhardt, David Hockney, Paul Melia, 1996 Published to coincide with the first major retrospective of David Hockney's drawings in 15 years at the Los Angeles County Museum of Art this volume brings together for the first time an exciting selection of the works on paper and in sketchbooks of perhaps the world's most widely celebrated contemporary artist A chronology and select bibliography accompany the 145 color and 70 black and white illustrations A Retrospective Exhibition of Paintings, Prints and Drawings Howard University. Gallery of Art, 1956 A Retrospective Look Ronald L Oliver, 2020-09-16 This collection looks back at the drawings and paintings done over a lifetime It began with a hunger to create by drawing when I was around twelve years old This book represents a chance to put them altogether into a whole that may make more sense From the start I have used drawing and painting as a way of calming down concentrating and focusing on settling things around me By calling them artwork I could make them look as I wanted them to remain I thought they should speak with my voice and say what I wanted to say It came natural to me because that was what I wanted It was just that simple I still see things that way there is the passing and there is the fixed It seems like there was a basic need to draw paint and express what was inside I could organize and put things together on paper or canvas that went together in no other way at no other time It was a way out of myself and I took it At times it was the best way to do things when was no other way I was first inspired by a glossy photo journal of the early sixties with photographs of Caroline Kennedy on top of a horse They went together and it all made sense Her father was highly esteemed but was later shot while riding a convertible in Dallas but Caroline lives It makes for a sad story but that is the way that many stories go One lives and learns When I later tried to ride a horse in imitation it ran to the middle of an interstate expressway and stopped in its tracks I loved horses until I learned they were not all without fault I found they had a will of their own that was often greater than that of the rider Regardless they were often better on paper than in real life I started drawing with a pencil and charcoal but later graduated to oils paints acrylics pastels and finally watercolours I saved the best for last

Lifelines, 2011 Since emerging as a young California artist in the late 1960s John M White has focused on performance art installations and drawing and painting This exhibition catalog for a major retrospective combines the artist's creative actions performances installations and sculptures with paintings and drawings related to the performances In White's primarily autobiographical work he mines his personal environment resulting in intriguing visuals that hint at contained narratives White has staged hundreds of public performances and his works are included in numerous collections including the Los Angeles County Museum of Art and the Guggenheim Museum Dan Flavin Michael Govan, Tiffany Bell, 2004-09-10 Light considered the purest embodiment of the divine is the basis of all art to one degree or another so why not make art out of light Dan Flavin 1933-96 an innovative and prolific American sculptor who can be considered an abstract minimalist and installation artist chose as his medium commercial fluorescent tubes and with these everyday lights created works of radiant and evocative beauty Flavin had many major shows and created a number of permanent public installations now his work is being celebrated in a magnificent retrospective exhibition that will travel across the country This handsomely produced volume by Govan director of the Dia Art Foundation and Bell who worked with Flavin presents exquisite photographs of Flavin s seminal light compositions and expert biographical and critical assessments Citing Byzantine icons William Ockham and Barnett Newman as influences Flavin created ravishingly beautiful colors and profoundly nuanced constructions with seemingly banal industrial materials transforming ordinary spaces into places of wonder For a definitive catalog see Dan Flavin The Complete Lights 1961 1996 Painter of Vision University of Arizona. Art Gallery, Walt Kuhn, 1966 A Retrospective Exhibition of Paintings, Drawings and Graphic Work , Martha Jungwirth Martha Jungwirth, 2014 The Kunsthalle Krems dedicates a comprehensive retrospective to Marta Jungwirth b 1940 the great loner on the Austrian art scene The show will be presenting works from five decades 00After studies at the Vienna Academy of Applied Arts from 1956 to 1963 she first came to public notice with works that used different techniques pencil drawings watercolors and works in oils and ink Early on she received awards such as the Theodor K rner Preis 1964 or the Joan Mir Prize 1967 In 1968 she was the only female artist to become a founding member of a loose group of artists that called itself Wirklichkeiten Realities At that time however Jungwirth had already taken her own independent and idiosyncratic path with paintings oscillating between gestural abstraction and represen tational compositions 00Thematically her work of drawings initially revolved around women s sociocultural environment Cycles entitled Housewife Machines or The Black Kitchen might be suggestive of a feminist approach but Jungwirth was rather fascinated with the internal workings of everyday gadgets inspired not least by the austerity of Mies van der Rohe s architectural drawings With these drawings of household appliances that looked like X rays she first came into the focus of the international art scene at the 1977 documenta 6 in Kassel Aside from everyday objects another source of inspiration or as the artist puts it a pretext for capturing personal visual impressions in drawing are real subjects like cityscapes or landscapes Jungwirth s works are always based on real life situations that she encounters and that work as a stimulus providing a visual experience which informs her creative process Her goal is never mere reconstruction of but always a reflection on reality 0Exhibition Kunsthalle Krems Austria 13 07 02 11 2014 John Alexander Jane Livingston, Museum of Fine Arts, Houston, 2007 Presents a retrospective of the drawings and paintings of the artist John Alexander from the late 1970s to the present day through more than 100 images three essays a chronology an exhibition history and a bibliography Provided by publisher André Masson, Line Unleashed André Masson, 1987 Kenneth Noland Kenneth Noland, Diane Waldman, Solomon R.
