2.2.2 Aesthetic values of Theodoros Kanthos residence

This project is the home of the painter and close friend Theodoros Kanthos; perhaps it was the first architectural example in Cyprus that embraces so overall the principles of modern architecture. The House Designed in 1949 and its construction was completed in 1952. This is a three-bedroom house, further comprising painting atelier (Figures 17, 18).

N. Michaelides, despite his young age, in this house, he applied so impressively all novel elements of the modern movement. Apart from the residential spaces, it contains a painting studio. The usage spaces are clearly divided into two levels. The common spaces are on the ground floor, the private ones on the first floor. The passage into the interior of the building contains three stages: The covered foreground, the glassed entrance space with the vertical circulation and the closed interior space. The differentiation of the building volumes over the height determines concrete visual connections and allows for a high level of natural lighting of the spaces. During the summer period, the activities of the closed living room are transferred into the outer covered space that is defined by the structural grid, the water pond, and the curved wall, enclosing the painting studio (Michael and Phocas, 2010).
