Aesthetics Discontent:

Aesthetics and Its Discontents Jacques Rancière, 2009-08-17 Translated by Steven Corcoran Only yesterday aesthetics stood accused of concealing cultural games of social distinction Now it is considered a parasitic discourse from which artistic practices must be freed But aesthetics is not a discourse It is an historical regime of the identification of art This regime is paradoxical because it founds the autonomy of art only at the price of suppressing the boundaries separating its practices and its objects from those of everyday life and of making free aesthetic play into the promise of a new revolution Aesthetics is not a politics by accident but in essence But this politics operates in the unresolved tension between two opposed forms of politics the first consists in transforming art into forms of collective life the second in preserving from all forms of militant or commercial compromise the autonomy that makes it a promise of emancipation This constitutive tension sheds light on the paradoxes and transformations of critical art It also makes it possible to understand why today's calls to free art from aesthetics are misguided and lead to a smothering of both aesthetics and politics in ethics

The Aesthetics of Discontent Michael F. Marra, 1991 This series of interpretations of selected classics examines premodern Japanese literature from the perspective of conflictual ideologies Professor Marra's analysis of such works as the Ise Monogatari the Hojoki and Tsurezuregusa highlights the existence of discontent in the authors of the so called high tradition and explains the means these authors used to express their social dissatisfaction in literary texts His aim is to recover the validity of the historicist approach in literary studies by focusing on the importance of the context in the formation of the text The text is seen as a product of ideological manipulation on the part of those who by reading writing or editing appropriate it according to specific and private concerns Professor Marra displays both sensitivity to the texts and a comprehensive grasp of Japanese and Western scholarship in making his argument that aesthetics and politics in premodern Japanese literature are mutually defining

Age of Disaffection Patrick Noonan, 2025-08-19 The 1960s in Japan have long been understood as a period of radical political engagement But as political movements from Old Left Communism to New Left revolts appeared to fail in their efforts to revolutionize Japanese society artists and intellectuals came to reject the ideals of postwar politics Instead they advocated withdrawing from political participation and making self transformation the grounds for social change This provocative book uncovers a paradox at the heart of the 1960s how political disillusionment became the basis for a new form of politics a politics of the self Examining aesthetic criticism popular literature avant garde art cinema and political theory Patrick Noonan argues that cultural producers in 1960s Japan cultivated what he calls an ethos of disaffection toward revolutionary politics and postwar society Departing from approaches that define politics as contestation Age of Disaffection foregrounds cultivation or the production of ways of feeling and relating to the world in efforts to redefine the political It presents an unorthodox account of the 1960s withdrawal from political activity developed not as the decade ended but as it was unfolding Noonan reveals how Japanese artists and intellectuals in this period confronted a crucial question that continues to vex efforts at radical change today transform institutions or alter how people relate to themselves and others

Aesthetic Essays Malcolm Budd, 2008-11-06 Malcolm Budd presents a selection of his work in aesthetics Some essays deal with the abstract heart of aesthetics issues such as the nature and scope of the aesthetic the validity of aesthetic judgements realism and anti realism pleasure and value and the aim of art Others focus on specific art forms music and pictorial representation

Art & Discontent Thomas McEvelley, 1991 In these six essays Thomas McEvelley tackles the aesthetics of formalism and proceeds to shed new light on the roots of Modernism and the collapse of the idea of history The world renowned critic confronts the ideas and philosophies which for two centuries have exalted art above constructive involvement in the world and proposes a new vision for the critical enterprise By explaining why our Modernism was not unique and why it is being superseded McEvelley suggests functions that art performs in a post Modern culture and offers compelling reasons why the history of art needs to be rewritten from an altered perspective McEvelley argues for example against the dominant theoretical position which removed art from contextual examination by declaring its sublime nature somehow elevated above ordinary life and he goes on to effectively destroy the notion that Modernism in the larger sense is an example of the superiority of technological society More than anything else however he breathes real life into the intellectual understanding of contemporary art in a way that no critic has since perhaps Herbert Read McEvelley humanizes the undertaking in addition his wit is evident throughout Chapters include Heads It's Form Tails It's Not Content On the Manner of Addressing Clouds and The Opposite of Emptiness
