The Blue Frontier Ronald C. Po, 2018-08-23 In this revisionist history of the eighteenth century Qing Empire from a maritime perspective Ronald C Po argues that it is reductive to view China over this period exclusively as a continental power with little interest in the sea With a coastline of almost 14 500 kilometers the Qing was not a landlocked state Although it came to be known as an inward looking empire Po suggests that the Qing was integrated into the maritime world through its naval development and customs institutionalization In contrast to our orthodox perception the Manchu court in fact deliberately engaged with the ocean politically militarily and even conceptually The Blue Frontier offers a much broader picture of the Qing as an Asian giant responding flexibly to challenges and extensive interaction on all frontiers both land and sea in the long eighteenth century

The Logic of the Cold War Tian-jia Dong, 2018-08-24 The Cold War revealed for the first time in human history the logic of human togetherness which indicated that it was not only necessary for nation states to live together but also possible for them to do so The necessity was because of the inescapably shared vulnerability of mutually assured destruction not only in terms of security but more so in economic well being and political stability The possibility was due to the unipolar world structure sustained by the global governance web of interdependent partnership which worked powerfully between the power agents to ensure the best of all possible world This latent governance system was both hierarchical and dynamic because its power was connective in the sense that power was rooted in one another and the ability to be interdependent by empowering other power agents and sharing vulnerability at the same time was the way of becoming the nucleus on the global web of interdependent partners and hence gaining power in transforming one another connectively and governing the world collectively George Kennan s patience in building up hard and soft powers within individual power agents of the web and Wilson Roosevelt s institutionalization of collective power above each power agents contributed to the construction of the system The Soviet big brotherly governing type was proven a failure The Hispanic
