In 1970, nearly 10% of immigrants were from Europe. Today, 60% of immigrants are from Latin America, which now includes more than 40% Hispanic. While it changed experience, population growth, nation, national identity, the greatest factor in Hispanic growth is the fact that Hispanic immigrants in 1970, the least likely to assimilate into the U.S. culture, were from Mexico. The second most likely to assimilate were from Puerto Rico (about 17% of the U.S. population in 1970), which had a long history of assimilation into the U.S. culture.
