Marriage and Marriageability Chigusa Yamaura,2020-07-15 How do the Japanese men and Chinese women who participate in cross border matchmaking individuals whose only interaction is often just one brief meeting come to see one another as potential marriage partners Motivated by this question Chigusa Yamaura traces the practices of Sino Japanese matchmaking from transnational marriage agencies in Tokyo to branch offices and language schools in China from initial meetings to marriage the visa application processes and beyond to marital life in Japan Engaging issues of colonial history local norms and the very ability to conceive of another or oneself as marriageable Marriage and Marriageability rethinks cross border marriage not only as a form of gendered migration but also as a set of practices that constructs marriageable partners and imaginable marriages Yamaura shows that instead of desiring different others these transnational marital relations are based on the tactical deployment of socially and historically created conceptions of proximity between Japan and northeast China Far from seeking to escape local practices participants in these marriages actively seek to avoid transgressing local norms By doing so on a transnational scale they paradoxically reaffirm and attempt to remain within the boundaries of local marital ideologies Decentering the Center Uma Narayan,Sandra G. Harding,Sandra Harding,2000 The essays in this volume bring to their focuses on philosophical issues the new angles of vision created by the multicultural global and postcolonial feminisms that have been developing around us These multicultural global and postcolonial feminist concerns transform mainstream notions of experience human rights the origins of philosophic issues philosophic uses of metaphors of the family white antiracism human progress scientific progress modernity the unity of scientific method the desirability of universal knowledge claims and other ideas central to philosophy Fragile Kinships Kathryn E. Goldfarb,2025-01-15 In Fragile Kinships Kathryn E Goldfarb shows how child welfare systems do not always generate well being This is true across the world as it is in Japan Policymakers caregivers and people with experience in state care endeavor to imagine and implement child welfare systems that are genuinely supportive Yet despite these efforts social welfare systems too often produce people who are alone By centering relationality in theorizing social forms of care Fragile Kinships offers key insights into embodied and socioemotional well being Goldfarb analyzes both the feelings and effects of lacking kin and the transformative energy people invest in creating new forms of kinship and relatedness Fragile Kinships demonstrates why welfare systems must support relational well being In her contributions to anthropological theories of kinship embodiment and the field of Japanese studies Goldfarb also speaks to academics practitioners and policymakers in Japan and globally with ethnographically grounded perspectives suggesting ways that child welfare systems might truly achieve wellbeing
