OSHA Brief:

Requires that the chemical manufacturer, distributor, or importer provide Safety Data Sheets (SDS) for hazardous chemicals or materials. The information contained in the SDS is largely the same as the MSDS, except that the SDS is required to be prepared in a standard order hierarchy. The SDS also provides guidance to help workers who handle hazardous chemicals to become familiar with the format and understand the contents of the SDS.

The SDS information should be provided to workers in a language that the physical, mental, and educational health hazards, protective measures, and safety precautions for handling, storing, and transporting the chemical. The information contained in the SDS must be consistent with the product label information. OSHA requires that SDSs prepared provide specific information as detailed in Appendix D of 29 CFR (29 CFR 1910.1200). The SDS prepared may also include additional information as required by state or local regulations.

Sections 1 through 8 contain general information about the chemical, identification, hazards, composition, safe handling practices, and emergency control measures (e.g., spill and leak response) that are provided to the worker. Sections 9 through 11 and 13 contain other technical and scientific information such as physical and chemical properties, stability and reactivity information, toxicology, and environmental information. Sections 12 and 14 include the date of preparation or last revision. The SDS must also state that it is applicable to the material as found when the product label was last revised or information for any subsequent revision.

The SDS must also contain Sections 12 through 14, to be consistent with the LHA (Labels, Packaging, and System of Classification and Labeling of Chemicals (LSCS), but not used and content of these sections. Sections 12 through 14, a description of all 16 sections of the SDS, along with their contents, is presented in Section 3: Identification.

Section 3: Identification

  - Chemical and synonyms.
  - Chemical Abstracts Service (CAS) number and other unique identifiers.
  - Impurities and stabilizing additives, which are themselves classified and which are also included in the chemical mixture.
- Some information is required for substances:
  - The total concentration (i.e., total percentage) of all ingredients which are classified as health hazards and are present above their oral-inhalation limits or their skin-inhalation limits.
  - The concentration (weight percent) of each ingredient must be specified except in a concentration range may be used in the following situations:
    - When the concentration is not known.
    - When the concentration is not known.
    - When the SDS is used for a group of substantially similar mixtures.
  - A statement that the specific chemical identity and/or exact percentage (concentration) of composition has been withheld as a trade secret is required.

Section 4: First-Aid Measures

This section describes the most cases that should be given by personnel exposed to an individual who has been exposed to the chemical. The required information includes:

- Relevant routes of exposure.
