Historic Scotland:

Neolithic of Mainland Scotland Kenneth Brophy, 2016-03-16 Archaeologists show us how the Neolithic human lived in mainland Scotland. What was life like in Scotland between 4000 and 2000 BC? Where were people living? How did they treat their dead? Why did they spend so much time building extravagant ritual monuments? What was special about the relationship people had with trees and holes in the ground? What can we say about how people lived in the Neolithic and early Bronze Age of mainland Scotland where much of the evidence we have lies beneath the ploughsoil or survives as slumped banks and ditches or ruinous megaliths? Each contribution to this volume presents fresh research and radical new interpretations of the pits, postholes, ditches, rubbish dumps, human remains and broken potsherds left behind by our Neolithic forebears. From the APF: What was life like in Scotland between 4000 and 2000 BC? Where were people living? How did they treat their dead? Why did they spend so much time building extravagant ritual monuments? What was special about the relationship people had with trees? Why was so much time and effort spent digging holes and filling them back up again? What can we say about how people lived in the Neolithic and early Bronze Age of mainland Scotland where much of the evidence we have lies beneath the plough soil or survives as slumped banks and filled ditches or ruinous megaliths? This book will draw together leading experts and young researchers to present fresh research and outline radical new interpretations of the pits, postholes, ditches, rubbish dumps, human remains and broken potsherds left behind by our Neolithic forebears. Much of this evidence has come to light in the past few decades, putting the emphasis very much on lowland mainland Scotland as opposed to more famous Orcadian Neolithic sites. Inspired by the work of Gordon Barclay, the leading scholar of Scotland's Neolithic in the last 40 years, the chapters in this book offer a wide-ranging analysis of the evidence we have for the first farmers in Scotland. Identifying the Historic Environment in Scotland's Woodlands and Forests Matthew Ritchie, Jonathan Wordsworth, 2010 Between the Wind and the Water Caroline Wickham-Jones, 2014-04-30 The archaeological sites of Orkney give us an unparalleled glimpse into prehistory. Inscribed as the Heart of Neolithic Orkney World Heritage Site in 1999, four great monuments, the village of Skara Brae, the Ring of Brodgar, the Stones of Stenness, and the burial mound of Maeshowe are also at the center of the archipelago's story. This book looks at what makes these monuments so special. Caroline Wickham-Jones explores the Neolithic world in which they were built, how they came to be a focus through the ages, and what they mean today. Picts, saints, Vikings, antiquarians, and tourists populate Orkney's past, a history which is channeled through these dances of stones. This new second edition replaces the highly successful and widely used first edition, which sold over 1,000 copies. The text has been fully updated to take account of recent discoveries and research, including the now world-famous site of Ness of Brodgar. In addition, there are over thirty new images, including stunning photographs of Orkney's archaeology and landscape. Able Minds and Practiced Hands Sally M. Foster, 2017-07-05 One hundred years on from J. Romilly Allen and Joseph Anderson's 1903 landmark publication The Early Christian Monuments of Scotland, twenty-six essays explore the current state of knowledge of early medieval sculpture in Scotland They demonstrate the unique value of this material in contributing to our understanding of the society and people that created it between 1000 to 1500 years ago Today s approaches and techniques offer new insights as well as great hope for what might be learnt from future study of familiar and new material alike The essays exemplify the ever diversifying interdisciplinary approaches that are being taken to the study of early medieval sculpture Key themes that emerge include the interdependence of conservation research and access the need for a 21st century inventory of the sculpture the breadth and value of the wide range of the research tools that now exist conservation issues including the politics of how and where sculpture should be protected and the pressing need to identify priorities for action and what is probably the most important development over the last 100 years the increase in awareness of the range of values and significances that attaches to early medieval sculpture including appreciation of context
