Mudimbe, 2013-01-31 All over Africa an explosion in cultural productions of various genres is in evidence Whether in relation to music song and dance drama poetry film documentaries photography cartoons fine arts novels and short stories essays and auto biography the continent is experiencing a robust outpouring of creative power that is as remarkable for its originality as its all round diversity Beginning from the late 1970s and early 1980s the African continent has experienced the longest and deepest economic crises than at any other time since the period after the Second World War Interestingly however while practically every indicator of economic development was declining in nominal and or real terms for most aspects of the continent cultural productions were on the increase Out of adversity the creative genius of the African produced cultural forms that at once spoke to crises and sought to transcend them The current climate of cultural pluralism that has been produced in no small part by globalization has not been accompanied by an adequate pluralism of ideas on what culture is and or should be nor informed by an equal claim to the production of the cultural packaged or not Globalization has seen to movement and mixture contact and linkage interaction and exchange where cultural flows of capital people commodities images and ideologies have meant that the globe has become a space with new asymmetries for an increasing intertwinement of the lives of people and consequently of a greater blurring of normative definitions as well as a place for re definition imagined and real As this book Contemporary African Cultural Productions has done researching into African culture and cultural productions that derive from it allows us among other things to enquire into definitions explore historical dimensions and interrogate the political dimensions to presentation and representation The book therefore offers us an intervention that goes beyond the normative literary and cultural studies main foci of race difference and identity notions which while important in themselves might without the necessary historicizing and interrogating result in a discourse that rather re inscribes the very patterns that necessitate writing against This book is an invaluable compendium to scholars researchers teachers students and others who specialize on different aspects of African culture and cultural productions as well as cultural centers and general readers Posthumanism, Cognition, and Cyborg Spectatorship Anna Batori, 2026-03-30 This book argues that contemporary digital blockbusters function as laboratories for posthuman cognition that transform spectatorship into a cyborg mode in which perception memory and agency are distributed across the cinematic canvas the diegetic bodies of characters the formal operations of film style and the embodied cognition of the spectator Drawing on posthumanist theory and the framework of 4E cognition it introduces four interlinked concepts embodied and frozen module cognition amalgamated aesthetics and the cybokinetic frame to explain how film form trains attention sensorimotor coupling and cognitive adaptation Methodologically the study combines close textual analysis with attention and perception research incorporating formal measures ASL MSL VAI and advocating for experimental follow ups using eye tracking pupillometry and fMRI EEG studies Through case studies including Blonde Nope Inception RoboCop

Pacific Rim and Iron Man the book traces how aesthetic strategies sustain or fracture embodied engagement under conditions of sensory and informational excess Ultimately it redefines the digital blockbuster as an active cognitive technology that both reflects and reconfigures twenty first century perception The book is aimed at film and media scholars cognitive scientists exploring neurocinematics and enactive approaches advanced students and filmmakers who seek guidance on visual design
