Black Women In The Academy:

Black Women in the Academy Sheila T. Gregory, 1999 This revised and updated edition of Black Women in the Academy adds updated data on the status of Black faculty women a forty four page bibliography and a new chapter on the status of international faculty women from twenty different countries to the only study of the decisions of African American women to remain in return to or voluntarily leave the academy Sheila Gregory creates a conceptual framework from economic psychosocial and job satisfaction theories to construct a model to explain the factors that affect the decision patterns influencing career mobility She uses a survey of the members of the Association of Black Women in Higher Education to illustrate to what degree the designated variables predict decision patterns Gregory s analysis focuses on the women who remained in the academy noting that those who did remain were usually successful high achievers who managed to overcome numerous obstacles involving career and family The author also provides an outline detailing how to attract and retain talented Black women scholars along with possible interventions that might help interinstitutional mobility A Broken Silence Lena Myers, 2002-02-28 This book addresses the interlocking systems of race and gender in institutions of higher education in America The study is based on empirical data from African American women of various disciplines in faculty and administrative positions at traditionally white colleges and universities It focuses primarily on narratives of the women in terms of how they are affected by racism as well as sexism as they perform their duties in their academic environments The findings suggest that a common thread exists relative to the experiences of the women The book challenges and dispels the myth that Black progress has led to equality for African American women in the academy The results of this study make it even more critical that the voices of African American women be heard and their experiences in the academy be expressed This may be one way to inform academic and lay readers that racism and sexism are not dead A Broken Silence Lena Wright Myers, Black Women in the Academy Lois Benjamin, 1994 Sisters of the Academy Reitumetse Obakeng Mabokela, Anna Lucille Green, 2001-01-01 There are disturbing trends in the continued under representation of African American women in higher education especially their attainment of post baccalaureate and graduate degrees This is an issue of major concern nationally for the Black community and for leaders in higher education The fifteen scholars who contribute to this volume trace the trajectory of Black women in education with a particular focus on higher education These scholars combine research and personal narratives to explore educational issues ranging from historical accounts of Black female teachers in the nineteenth century to the challenges and triumphs of being an activist researcher at the turn of the twenty first century The essays in this volume address specific historical social cultural political and academic issues that affect Black women in the academy and provide readers with tangible examples of how these scholars have transcended some of the challenges in their pursuit of academic excellence While these essays do not claim to provide the magic solution or a how to guide to success in higher education they do raise thought provoking issues that are critical to the success of Black women in higher education This book uncovers issues and proposes remedies which will be of vital interest for anyone concerned with diversity and equity in higher education It celebrates emergent scholars of African descent who have used the challenges they have encountered in their journeys through the academy to create opportunities for success Sisters of the Academy Reitumetse Obakeng Mabokela,Anna Lucille Green,2001 When Mabokela education Michigan State U arrived in the US for post graduate studies she found that women of African descent labored under disadvantages that reminded her of apartheid in her native South Africa As part of the struggle to overcome those barriers she collects the experiences of 15 emerging African American women scholars in education and related fields Some look at the history of black women in the academy while others consider a theoretical framework coming to terms with conditions racial identity and other aspects Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Sisters of the Academy Anna L. Green,2011 Black Women in the Academy Nellie Y. McKay,Sandra F. Daniel,Martha Cobb,1982* Contesting the Terrain of the Ivory Tower Rochelle Garner,2004 This study examines the leadership of three African American women administrators in higher education and how they have used their spirituality as a lens to lead in the academy The central questions in this case study include How do African American women make meaning of their spiritual selves in their everyday leadership practices How does their spirituality influence their work and the type of relationships they develop with others in the academy What are the ways in which these three women have used their spirituality as a lens to lead and how does this leadership impact the social cultural and political construct of a male dominated arena Building Mentorship Networks to Support Black Women Bridget Turner Kelly,Sharon Fries-Britt,2022-03-14 This new book in the Diverse Faculty in the Academy series pulls back the curtain on what Black women have done to mentor each other in higher education provides advice for navigating unwelcoming campus environments and explores avenues for institutions to support and foster minoritized women s success in the academy Chapter authors present critical approaches to advance equity and to achieve trust and transparency in the academy Drawing on examples of mentoring between Black women students faculty and administrators in and outside of the academy from diverse institutional contexts exploring the use of digital technologies and framed by theoretical concepts from a range of disciplines this important volume provides insights on mentoring that can be employed across all of higher education to support the success of Black women faculty Full of actionable steps that institutional leaders can take to support the network of mentors it takes to be successful in the academy this book is a must read for department and university leaders faculty and graduate students in Higher Education interested in supporting and fostering mentoring for those most vulnerable in the academic pathway for success Black Women in the Academy Ruth Nicole Brown,Jamala McFadden,Dorian Tod Warren,1998 Developing Women Leaders in the Academy through Enhanced Communication Strategies Jayne Cabbage,2020-01-21 Developing Women Leaders in the Academy through Enhanced Communication Strategies explores the experiences strategies and triumphs of women who have attained leadership roles within the academy as well as the shortfalls disappointments and battle scars many women leaders have experienced in their quest to lead Clear direction focused strategies and enhanced communication are necessary to increase the ever growing number of women in leadership positions in the academy Contributions to this book discuss the ways in which these concepts have been employed to transcend the academic ceiling by creating mentoring networks for women training programs and other ladders of ascension encouraging future leaders to be more assertive self assured and strategic within the academic terrain Scholars of communication education and women s studies will find this volume particularly useful

Loud Silence: Black Women in the Academy Life Histories and Narratives Chamara J. Kwakye,2011 0 Loud Silence Life Histories of Black Women in the Academy0 analyses the life histories of three Black women faculty at predominantly white institutions Using Womanist theory as a theoretical framework this project pays particular attention to the ways in which the participants story their lives and make sense of their multiple identities inside and outside the academy In addition the project uses their narratives as a foundation to discuss the impact of gender class race ability and sexuality particularly in academia and in society as a whole

Laboring Positions: Black Women, Mothering and the Academy Sekile Nzinga-Johnson,2013-06-01 Laboring Positions aims to disrupt the dominant discourse on academic women s mothering experiences Black women s maternity is assumed and yet is also silenced within the disembodied patriarchal racist antifamily and increasingly neoliberal work environment of academia This volume acknowledges the salience of the institutional challenges facing contemporary caregiving academics yet it is centrally concerned with expanding the academic mothering conversation by speaking against the private public spheres approach Laboring Positions does so by privileging the hybridity between Black women s mothering experiences and their working lives within and beyond the academy The collection also intentionally blurs essentialist boundaries of mother and other which dictates and generates alternate border zones of knowledge production concerning Black academic women s working lives In doing so the diverse perspectives captured herein offer us cogent starting points from which to interrogate the interlocking cultural political and economic hierarchies of the academy The editorial goal of Laboring Positions is to offer a polyvocal collection embodying themes that privilege and arouse Black mothering as central in the narratives research and models of existence and resistance for Black women s survival within the academy The contributors utilize a wide variety of methods and perspectives including Black feminist theory intersectional feminism Womanist research ethics hip hop feminism African centered epistemologies literary analysis autoethnography policy analysis memoir qualitative research survival strategies and frameworks and situated testimony that are all collectively bound by Black women s intellectual lives activist impulses and experiences of mothering or being mothered The critical embodied perspectives herein serve as evidence that Black women exist beyond the institutional and ideological boundaries that have attempted to define their journeys Laboring Positions chapters speak to each other and some conversations are louder than others yet together they offer us a complexly nuanced portrait of the emergent literature on race gender mothering and work

Outsiders Within Elwood Watson, 2008-05-16 Through interviews with prominent legal academics Outsiders Within presents the trials and accomplishments of black women law professors who began to enter the legal academy in the 1970s and 80s

Me Too, Feminist Theory, and Surviving Sexual Violence in the Academy Laura A. Gray-Rosendale, 2020-03-09 Powerfully written and theoretically grounded Me Too Feminist Theory and Surviving Sexual Violence in the Academy collects a range of perspectives from sexual assault survivors with backgrounds in academia The contributors in this collection connect their experiences of sexual violence to their research and work within the academy as well as their lives outside of it Contributors analyze the events surrounding their experiences with sexual violence as well as the cultural social and political effects Their analyses are located within discussions of recent cultural events and the larger contexts of race ethnicity class age gender sexuality region and nation

States of Grace Theodorea Regina Berry, 2018 States of Grace Counterstories of a Black Woman in the Academy recognizes acknowledges and centers race and gender through the embodiment of Black womanhood in the academy in the context of grace Encapsulated in concepts of grace this book reveals the dynamic multidimensional presence of a scholar who brings her wholeness into her scholarship and teaching providing insights and guidance along the way

Transforming the Academy Jana Walser-Smith, 2019

Immigrant Women of the Academy Mary Vianna Alfred, Mary V. Alfred, Raji Swaminathan, 2004 This book is about immigrant women of colour in the US and particularly in the ivory tower Collectively the narratives in the book strive to further the discourse regarding the multiple interrelationships of identity culture self others pedagogy and institutions of higher education The accounts that follow describe what it means to be a transnational student professor scholar and administrator within the contested terrain of higher education The women in this book have experienced the halls of academe in different ways not always as faculty at a research university The narratives are organised geographically and draw out the experiences of the third wave of immigrants coming from Africa Asia the Caribbean or West Indies and Latin America This book brings together the multidimensional voices of immigrant women of colour to chronicle the immigrant experience in the United States
