Blacks In Communications Journalism Public Relations And Advertising:

Blacks in Communications: Journalism, Public Relations, and Advertising Meyer L. Stein, 1972      The Media in Black and White Everette Dennis, 2020-03-24 The media's treatment of and interaction with race like race itself is one of the most sensitive areas in American society. Whether in its coverage and treatment of racial matters or racial connections inside media organizations themselves, mass communication is deeply involved with race. The Media in Black and White brings together twenty journalists and scholars of various racial backgrounds to grapple with a controversial issue: the role that media industries, from advertising to newspapers to the information superhighway, play in helping Americans understand race. Contributors include Ellis Cose, a contributing editor for Newsweek; Manning Marable, chairman of Columbia University's African American Research Center; William Wong, a columnist for the Oakland Tribune; Lisa Penalzoza, a University of Illinois professor; and Melita Marie Garza, a Chicago Tribune reporter. Among the topics discussed are the quality of reporting on immigrant issues; how sensationalism may be deepening the chasm of misunderstanding between the races; how the coverage of America's drug wars has been marked by racism; and whether politically correct language is interfering with coverage of vital issues and problems. The contributors of The Media in Black and White hope to broaden the narrow vision of the United States and the world beyond with their contributions to the debate over race and the media. The commentary found in this important work will be of interest to sociologists, communication specialists, and black studies scholars.      CAS. Curriculum Advisory Service Quarterly, 1971      Madison Avenue and the Color Line Jason Chambers, 2008. Until now, most works on the history of African Americans in advertising have focused on the depiction of blacks in advertisements. Madison Avenue and the Color Line breaks new ground by examining the history of black advertising agency employees and agency owners.      Catalog of the Communications Library, University of Illinois University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Library, 1975      Communications Media and Africa African Bibliographic Center, 1973      The Publishers Weekly, 1972      The Dictionary Catalog of the Vivian G. Harsh Collection of Afro-American History and Literature, the Chicago Public Library Chicago Public Library, 1978      African Americans in the Media Today [2 Volumes] Sam Riley, 2007-05-30. This two-volume biographical encyclopedia chronicles the success stories and considerable strides made by over 240 African American media figures from newspapers, magazines, radio, television, and the Internet.      Black Media in America George H. Hill, 1984      American Peace Writers, Editors, and Periodicals Nancy Roberts, 1991-06-30. This dictionary provides information on the writers, editors, and publications that have carried on a strong American tradition of peace advocacy that goes back to colonial times. The only work of its kind, the dictionary contains entries for some 400 individuals and more than 200 periodicals that represent viewpoints ranging from radical nonresistance, religious pacifism, and racial nonviolence to selective anti-war positions and advocacy of world government. Professor Roberts' introduction presents an interpretive overview of peace advocacy and the various print media that became vehicles for it, including mainstream magazines and church or peace movement publications such as tracts books and pamphlets Each entry summarizes the individual s literary contributions and lists known affiliations with periodicals peace organizations and religious groups The bibliographic section documents a representative selection of periodicals that have sought to promote peace at various times in America s history The volume also includes information on peace organizations and the writers and editors affiliated with them The product of meticulous research this reference dictionary brings together a rich collection of material on the writers social reformers and publications that have shaped American pacifist tradition Of interest for the fields of American social history journalism and communication history and religion as well as peace studies

African-American Business Leaders John N. Ingham,Lynne B. Feldman,1994 The only biographical dictionary on African American business leaders this volume provides biographies on 123 individuals Covering significant Black business leaders from the early days in America to the present it includes many individuals who do not appear in general African American biographical collections and provides extensive information that is not available in other sources Each biographical profile provides comprehensive coverage of the individual and includes comprehensive bibliographical information The volume also includes appendices classifying the business leaders by place of birth principal place of business type of business and women business leaders An extensive general bibliographical essay provides information on works giving background information and the volume concludes with a full subject index
