Blackwater Lightship A Novel:

The Blackwater Lightship Colm Toibin, 2001-06-05 Helen her mother and her grandmother come together to care for Helen's terminally ill brother

The Blackwater Lightship Colm Tóibín, 2000 Helen her mother and her grandmother come together to care for Helen's terminally ill brother

The Blackwater Lightship Colm Tóibín, 2000 A deeply resonant story about three generations of an estranged family reuniting to mourn an untimely death. It is the early 1990s and Helen O'Doherty her mother Lily and her grandmother Dora have come together in a crumbling old house along Ireland's coastal southeast to tend Helen's adored brother Declan who is dying of AIDS. With two of Declan's friends the six of them are forced to plumb the shoals of their own histories and to come to terms with each other. Written in a spare powerful prose this is a moving novel about the capacity of stories to heal the deepest wounds

The Blackwater Lightship Colm Tóibín, 2000 Three generations of women come together to support a dying family member. Although the women have been at odds for years they are able to talk about their differences while they support each other through a trying time

The Poetics and Ethics of (Un-)Grievability in Contemporary Anglophone Fiction Susana Onega, Jean-Michel Ganteau, 2022-12-27 The working hypothesis of the book is that since the 1990s an increasing number of Anglophone fictions are responding to the new ethical and political demands arising out of the facts of war, exclusion, climate change, contagion, posthumanism and other central issues of our post-trauma age by adapting the conventions of traditional forms of expressing grievability such as elegy, testimony or pseudo autobiography. Situating themselves in the wake of Judith Butler's work on un-grievability the essays collected in this volume seek to cast new light on these issues by delving into the socio-cultural constructions of grievability and other types of vulnerabilities, invisibilities and inaudibilities linked with the neglect and/or abuse of non-normative individuals and submerged groups that have been framed as disposable, exploitable and/or unmournable by such determinant factors as sex, gender, ethnic origin, health, etc. thereby refining and displacing the category of subalternity associated with the poetics of postmodernism

Goodbye Yeats and O'Neill Edward Alphonsus Hagan, 2010 Goodbye Yeats and O'Neill is a reading of one or two books recently written by the following major authors: Roddy Doyle, Colm Tóibín, John McGahern, William Trevor, Seamus Deane, Nuala O'Faolain, Patrick McCabe, Colum McCann, Nick Laird, Gerry Adams, Claire Boylan, Frank McCourt, Tim O'Brien, Michael Patrick MacDonald, Alice McDermott, Edward J. Delaney, Beth Lordan, William Kennedy, Thomas Kelly, and Mary Gordon. The study argues that farce has been a major mode of recent Irish and Irish American fiction and memoir, a primary indicator of the state of both Irish and Irish American cultures in the early twenty-first century.

Narratives of the Unspoken in Contemporary Irish Fiction M. Teresa Caneda-Cabrera, José Carregal-Romero, 2023-07-21 This Open access book is a collection of essays and offers an in-depth analysis of silence as an aesthetic practice and a textual strategy which paradoxically speaks of the unspoken nature of many inconvenient hidden truths of Irish society in the work of contemporary fiction writers. The study acknowledges Ireland's history of damaging silences and considers its legacies but it also underscores how silence can serve as a valuable even productive means of expression From a wide range of critical perspectives the individual essays address among other issues the conspiracies of silence in Catholic Ireland the silenced structural oppression of Celtic Tiger Ireland the recovery of silenced stories voices of the past and their examination in the present as well as millennial disaffection and the silencing of vulnerability in today s neoliberal Ireland The book s attention to silence provides a rich vocabulary for understanding what unfolds in the quiet interstices of Irish writing from recent decades This study also invokes the past to understand the present and thus demonstrates the continuities and discontinuities that define how silence operates in Irish culture Grant FFI2017 84619 P AEI ERDF EU INTRUTHS

theoretical background of the philosophical discourse of modernity Offering a wide range of perspectives this volume examines a plurality of representations past and present of memory both public and private and the intersection between collective memory and individual in modern Ireland Also explored is the relation between memory and identity national and private as well as questions of subjectivity and the construction of the self Given Ireland TM s tragic past and its long history of colonisation it is inevitable that various aspects of memory in terms of nationality post colonialism and politics also have bearing on this study The volume is divided into five sections each of which examines one broadly defined aspect of memory The introductory section focuses on memory and history and is followed by sections on memory and autobiography place identity and memory in the work of novelist John Banville Within each section the individual writers engage in a fruitful dialogue with each other and with the approaches of such theorists as Arendt Husserl Merleau Ponty Ricoeur and Baudrillard
