Britains Waterways Cruising Rings And Other Things:

Britain's Waterways Brian Roberts, 2002-02-18 An illustrated guide to selecting a holiday on the inland waterways of Britain with detailed maps at 1 350 000 showing recognised cruising rings and other suggested routes Visitor attractions and waterway distractions are described for each area Proposed journey times range from an afternoon or a long weekend to a week a fortnight or longer with options for detours along the way

British Waterways Great Britain. Parliament. House of Commons. Environment, Food and Rural Affairs Committee, 2008 In its 7th report of session 2006 07 HC 345 I ISBN 9780215521330 on British Waterways BW the Committee pressed for adequate funding of the waterways network and expressed concern at the poor relations that existed at the time between the Department for Environment Food and Rural Affairs Defra and BW This further report was prompted by BW s decision in February 2008 to withdraw from the partnership to restore the Cotswold Canals in order to fund urgent repairs to the Monmouthshire and Brecon Canal The report focuses on BW s regeneration and restoration work but also looks at how Defra and BW are working together and the Committee is encouraged by an improvement in the relationship and communication between the two bodies Restoration of canals produces little if any direct benefit to BW and BW has often carried all the financial risk in such projects Canal restoration schemes can be of great value to the areas where the canals are restored producing knock on benefits such as more jobs and visitor income The BW Board is charged primarily with maintaining the existing waterways network and cannot be expected to take on substantial risk from restoration projects especially in present economic conditions If the public sector wishes to obtain external benefits from canal restoration schemes the bodies responsible for obtaining those benefits should bear the risk Defra with British Waterways and other interested bodies should develop a mechanism to score and prioritise public investment in canal restoration according to the external benefits that would be created and should agree how the financial risks of such projects should be borne

Tales from the Tillerman Steve Haywood, 2021-09-02 Haywood imprints his inimitable humour on his descriptions of the people and places he meets along the way BBC Countryfile magazine He conjures up a picture of a different world filled with interesting and eccentric people A cross section of the best of middle England in fact The Oxford Times Steve Haywood has been cruising the inland waterways for fifty years and has amassed a following of readers keen to hear about his travelling tales on Britain s beautiful canals and rivers His previously published books Narrowboat Dreams One Man and a Narrowboat Too Narrow to Swing a Cat and Narrowboat Nomads have all been hugely enjoyed by those with a desire for a narrowboat narrative told in Steve s witty charming style Tales from the Tillerman is Steve s next title and is both his tribute to Britain s canals rivers and countryside and a celebration of Britishness in all its eccentric glory Unlike Steve s previous titles which have each focussed on one particular journey that Steve has taken Tales from the Tillerman is casting the net wider and drawing from his full fifty years of experience recounting the many hair raising escapades he s had up and down the country and reflecting on how the country and the cruising landscape has changed in those fifty years Anecdotes and light hearted rants aplenty mixed with some tall tales and a smattering of the nostalgic in Tales from the Tillerman you ll be thoroughly entertained as a middle aged man oh go on then an old one reflects on his long love affair with boats and waterways contemplating their importance to his life and how they ve changed it
