British Emigration Colonisation And Settlement 1800186:

Representations of British Emigration, Colonisation and Settlement Robert D. Grant, 2005-11-08 This volume explores the complex relationships between early Nineteenth Century representations of emigration colonization and settlement and the social economic and cultural conditions within which they were produced It stresses the role of writers illustrators and artists in making colonial settler landscapes within the metropolitan imaginary paying particularly close attention to the complex interdependencies between metropolis and colony which have too often been reduced to simplistic binaries of centre and periphery metropolitan core and colonial outpost Focusing on material dealing with Canada the Cape Australia and New Zealand its interdisciplinarity and global reach consequently adds considerably to the field of colonial studies

Latinos in the United States Albert Camarillo, 1986

Emigrants and Empire Stephen Constantine, 1990 This collection of papers is part of the series Studies in Imperialism The series aims to examine imperialism as more than a set of economic political and military phenomena and explores the intellectual cultural and technical aspects of imperialism in the era of European world supremacy The books seek to demonstrate that imperialism had profound effects on dominant as well as on subordinate societies

The British Settlement of Natal Alan F. Hattersley, 2009-06-18 Celebrations held in the main towns of Natal on the centenary of the first organised emigration from Great Britain inspired the writing of this book first published in 1950 The author Alan F Hattersley was Professor of History at Pietermaritzberg for many years and made himself an authority on this particular part of British Imperial consequences of the wave of emigration to Natal which was strongest between 1848 and 1851 It treats not only of Natal but of rural and urban conditions in England as a background to the lives of the many named families of emigrants It deals with many of these families by name and with personal experiences of the early settlers often in detail the author s researches having been conducted in England as well in Natal He has discovered and described how settlers were procured how they were transported and the occupations that they took up on arrival Such a book intimate in its historical detail and most readably written will be of interest to general readers and of service to all students of imperial history and of migration problems
