British Aviation The Adventuring Years 1920 1929:

British Aviation; the Adventuring Years, 1920-1929 Harald Penrose, 1973 Beretter om flyvning og flyindustri i England i mellemkrigs rene The Man Who Built the Swordfish Adrian Smith, 2018-04-30 Sir Richard Fairey was one of the great aviation innovators of the twentieth century His career as a plane maker stretched from the Edwardian period to the jet age he lived long enough to see one of his aircraft be the first to break the 1000mph barrier and at least one of his designs the Swordfish holds iconic status A qualified engineer party to the design development and construction of the Royal Navy s state of the art sea planes Sir Richard founded Fairey Aviation at the Admiralty s behest in 1915 His company survived post war retrenchment to become one of Britain s largest aircraft manufacturers The firm built a succession of front line aircraft for the RAF and the Fleet Air Arm including the iconic Swordfish In addition Fairey Aviation designed and built several cutting edge experimental aircraft including long distance record breakers between the wars and the stunningly beautiful Delta 2 which broke the world speed record on the eve of Sir Richard s death in 1956 Fairey also came to hold a privileged position in the British elite courting politicians and policymakers He became a figurehead of the British aviation industry and his successful running of the British Air Commission earned him a knighthood A key player at a pivotal moment Fairey s life tells us much about the exercise of power in early twentieth century Britain and provides an insight into the nature of the British aviation manufacturing industry at its wartime peak and on the cusp of its twilight years R. J. Mitchell: To the Spitfire John Shelton, 2023-04-16 R J Mitchell at Supermarine is the definitive account of the life of Britain s best known aeronautical engineer Shelton calls upon unpublished letters extensive press accounts and updated material from his previous publications concentrating particularly on the harsh conditions of Mitchell s apprentice years the precarious state of the aircraft firm he joined and moments of good fortune of which he took advantage He was a chancer as well as a methodical developer of mainly slow flying seaplanes Mitchell s progress from draughtsman with no formal training in aeronautical design to internationally known chief designer is charted through a chronological study of his designs revealing a formidable work ethic with a complex personality that combined dreams and common sense It will also be shown how the success of his high speed Schneider Trophy designs propelled him reluctantly into public attention and how his anxiety for his pilots safety matched an equal concern that his designs should not let down an expectant nation Later expectations on him to produce a killer fighter were equally daunting and the outcome was often uncertain but details of colleagues accounts highlight the essential and unique contribution of R J s experience and drive to the eventual appearance of the iconic Spitfire The Aeronautical Journal, 1973 British Aviation, Widening Horizons, 1930-1934 Harald Penrose, Royal Air Force Museum (Great Britain), 1979 Aeronautical and Astronautical Resources of the Library of Congress Ronald S. Wilkinson, John F. Buydos, William J. Sittig, 2007 The collections of the Library of Congress in the history of aeronautics are plausibly the best in the world Aside from some limited efforts describing aeronautics in the Library s special collections however no really

British Aviation, the Ominous Skies, 1935-1939 Harald Penrose,1980 The Development of RAF Strategic Bombing Doctrine, 1919-1939 Scot Robertson,1995-01-24 The history of strategic bombing is inextricably intertwined with the history of the Royal Air Force This book explores the question of doctrinal development in the RAF It employs a neo Clausewitzian analysis to reveal that the RAF based the preparation of its strategic bombing force on supposition and hypothesis Rather than review the evidence of the First World War objectively to determine the fundamental principles of strategic bombing the RAF adopted a subjective approach The failure to develop a realistic theory of strategic bombing and to test it through a dialectical process resulted in a lack of attention to the equally necessary element of doctrine Bomber Command was incapable of carrying out a strategic bombing campaign because it failed in peace to develop the necessary doctrine
