Cities Of The Prairie:

The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier , The period from the mid 1960s to the early 1980s signaled the end of the prosperity of the postwar years enjoyed by the cities of the prairie those cities located immediately within or adjacent to the Mississippi River drainage system or what is usually called the American Heartland During this period the bottom dropped out of local economies and all collapsed except those upheld by massive state institutions With this collapse optimism for new opportunities ended signaling the close of the American frontier The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier looks at mid sized cities Champaign Urbana Decatur Joliet Moline Peoria Rockford Rock Island and Springfield Illinois Davenport Iowa Duluth Minnesota and Pueblo Colorado Elazar examines how they adapted to change during the period immediately after World War II through the Vietnam War and the Nixon years He considers the roles of federal and state governments as instruments of change including their efforts to impose new standards and ways of doing business The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier analyzes the struggle between federalism and managerialism in the local political arena In his new introduction Daniel J Elazar discusses this volume s place as part of a forty year study of the cities of the prairie as well as the changes and developments in that region over that forty year span This volume will be of great interest to economists political scientists and sociologists interested in the Great Society and the New Federalism and their aftermath Daniel J Elazar 1934 1999 was president of the Jerusalem Center for Public Affairs and professor of political science and director of the Center for the Study of Federalism at Temple University He authored many books including the four volume series The Covenant Tradition in Politics available from Transaction Rozann Rothman is director of the applied politics program at Indiana University Purdue University in Indianapolis Stephen L Schechter and Maura Allan Stein are associate professors of political science at Russell Sage College Joseph Zikmund II is dean of the School of Letters and Sciences at Menlo College Cities of the Prairie Daniel Judah Elazar, 1984-02 No descriptive material is available for this title The Metropolitan Frontier and American Politics Daniel Elazar, 2020-03-10 American civilization has been shaped by four decisive forces the frontier migration sectionalism and federalism The frontier has offered abundance to those who would could take advantage of its opportunities stimulated technological innovation and been the source of continuous change in social structure and economic organization migration has been responsible for relocating cultures from the Old world to the New various sections of geographic territories have adjusted to the overall American culture without losing their individual distinctiveness and federalism has shaped the United States political and social organization The Metropolitan Frontier and American Politics was begun in the late 1950s under the auspices of the University of Illinois Institute of Government and Public Affairs as a study of the eight lesser metropolitan areas in Illinois What started out as a design for community maps of each area with the intent to outline their particular political systems led to a major study of metropolitan cities of the prairie the heartland area between the Great Lakes and the Continental Divide with an examination of the processes that have shaped American politics The distinctive features of the geographic areas that Elazar discovered can best be understood as reflections of the differences in cultural backgrounds of their respective settlers. Proper understanding of these communities therefore requires an examination of their place in the federal system, the impact of frontier and section upon them, and a study of the cultures that inform them as civil communities. The volume is consequently divided into three parts: Cities, Frontiers, and Sections; Streams of Migration and Political Culture; and Cities, States, and Nation, each of which explores Elazar's concerns in discovering the interrelationship between the cities of the frontier and American politics. A prequel to The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier, The Metropolitan Frontier and American Politics will be of great interest to students of politics, American history, and ethnography.

The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier Daniel J. Elazar, 2017-07-14. The period from the mid 1960s to the early 1980s signaled the end of the prosperity of the postwar years enjoyed by the cities of the prairie, those cities located immediately within or adjacent to the Mississippi River drainage system or what is usually called the American Heartland. During this period the bottom dropped out of local economies and all collapsed except those upheld by massive state institutions. With this collapse, optimism for new opportunities ended, signaling the close of the American frontier. The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier looks at mid-sized cities: Champaign, Urbana, Decatur, Joliet, Moline, Peoria, Rockford, Rock Island, and Springfield, Illinois; Davenport, Iowa; Duluth, Minnesota; and Pueblo, Colorado. Elazar examines how they adapted to change during the period immediately after World War II through the Vietnam War and the Nixon years. He considers the roles of federal and state governments as instruments of change, including their efforts to impose new standards and ways of doing business. The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier analyzes the struggle between federalism and managerialism in the local political arena. In his new introduction, Daniel J. Elazar discusses this volume's place as part of a forty-year study of the cities of the prairie, as well as the changes and developments in that region over that forty-year span. This volume will be of great interest to economists, political scientists, and sociologists interested in the Great Society and the New Federalism and their aftermath.
