Citrus County Fl:

Life in Citrus County, Florida Citrus County Chamber of Commerce, 1967* Citrus White Gold John Charles Miller, 2011-08-01 The evening of April 9 1891 the Citrus County Commission chambers in Mannfield Florida were taken over by a partisan group from the nearby town of Inverness declaring Inverness to be the new county seat Stolen is what irate folks from Mannfield said In fact the County Clerk still in his chair at his desk writing had been loaded into a mule drawn wagon and hauled off along with county furniture and records By 1917 Mannfield was no longer on maps it was a ghost town with naught but longleaf pine and turkey oak covered woods Nothing remained not even foundations just a lonely cemetery a dried up pond and old sandy roads Could things have been different The history of Mannfield Citrus County and even the United States of the late 1890s and early 1900s changed when Jim Harkins went on one of his nature loving bicycle rides down the northern portion of the Withlacoochee State Trail in Citrus County in the early autumn of 2001 All caused by a wandering gopher tortoise crossing the trail Floral City Tom Ritchie, 2003 Back Home Hampton Dunn, 1977*

Floral City Tom Ritchie, Frank Peters, Paulette Lash Ritchie, 2012 Tiny and quiet today Floral City's past was as a commercial center of the phosphate industry during the boom of the early 20th century Established in 1883 Floral City is one of the oldest communities in Citrus County Today it is the only surviving town in the county's southeastern quadrant and is listed on the National Register of Historic Places Its appearance today is deceiving however because this tiny quiet laid back village was once a sprawling dynamic town Floral City grew as the main commercial center of Citrus County during the Florida hard rock phosphate boom of the early 20th century and was known for its beautiful homes commerce and state of the art technology including electricity and telephone service With a population of nearly 10 000 people in 1914 it was one of the largest towns in Florida until the phosphate industry collapsed as World War I disrupted exports to Europe Floral City never recovered economically and reverted to its original small town ambience Citrus County Lynn M. Homan, Thomas Reilly, 2001-06 Located on Florida's Gulf Coast Citrus County boasts a rich and diverse landscape where modern amenities are found side by side the traces of old Florida that remain Opportunities to experience the natural beauty of the real Florida are plentiful and the singular history of the region including the prehistoric creatures native cultures and early settlers who called the region home is accessible in the county's wide variety of historic sites and public resources From the countless disappointments of Spanish conquistadors searching for riches in the region to the establishment of Fort Cooper during the Second Seminole War from the hardy pioneers who carved an existence from the Florida wilderness to the thousands of others who took part in the boom and bust of industry the unique story of Citrus County continues to unfold Today newcomers to the area find homes in the county's planned communities while vacationers are drawn to Mother Nature's Theme Park Restored and preserved for future generations significant historic structures such as the Old Courthouse Heritage Museum are receiving new life and the county's past is becoming recognized as a vital treasure Federal
