curated during the COVID 19 pandemic and in the aftermath of the brutal killings of George Floyd Breonna Taylor Ahmaud Arbery and Tony McDade the images that follow serve as a visual response to these unthinkable experiences as well as to the beauty of life Exceptionally handsome and historically consequential Reflections in Black is not only the rare volume that can be given as a gift on any occasion but a work so significant that it has the power to reconfigure the imagination This anniversary edition demands to be included in every American s library as an essential part of our country s heritage The Black Image in the New Deal Nicholas Natanson,1992 Between 1935 and 1942 photographers for the New Deal s Resettlement Administration Farm Security Administration FSA captured in powerfully moving images the travail of the Great Depression and the ways of a people confronting radical social change Those who speak of the special achievement of FSA photography usually have in mind such white icons as Dorothea Lange s Migrant Mother or Walker Evans s Alabama sharecroppers But some six thousand printed images a tenth of FSA s total included black figures or their dwellings At last Nicholas Natanson reveals both the innovative treatment of African Americans in FSA photographs and the agency s highly problematic use of these images once they had been created While mono dimensional treatments of blacks were common in public and private photography of the period such FSA photographers as Ben Shahn Arthur Rothstein and Jack Delano were well informed concerning racial problems and approached blacks in a manner that avoided stereotypes right wing as well as left wing In addition rather than focusing exclusively on FSA approved agency projects involving blacks politically the safest course they boldly addressed wider social and cultural themes This study employs a variety of methodological tools to explore the political and administrative forces that worked against documentary coverage of particularly sensitive racial issues Moreover Natanson shows that those who drew on the FSA photo files for newspapers magazines books and exhibitions often entirely omitted images of black people and their environment or used devices such as cropping and captioning to diminish the true range of the FSA photographers vision Black Deborah Willis,2020-11-24 Over 500 glorious black and white photographs celebrating black culture throughout American history from Jesse Owens to Barry Bonds Ella Fitzgerald to Halle Berry Tucked away in the dusty halls of the Smithsonian archives and nearly forgotten by most historians black culture is a vast complex interconnected web of different people trends and lifestyles Deborah Willis has dug through the archives and hunted down the remnants that tell the wonderful and tragic history of a people Tackling all subjects with bravery and frankness Deborah Willis s work is a true treasure to behold Black A Celebration of a Culture which would be a perfect complement to any Juneteenth celebration presents a vibrant panorama of twentieth century black culture in America and around the world Broken up into segments that examine in detail such subjects as children work art beauty Saturday night and Sunday morning the photos detail the history and the evolution of a culture Each photograph handpicked by Deborah Willis America s leading historian of African American photography celebrates the world of music art fashion sports family worship or play With five hundred photographs from every time period from the birth of photography to the birth of hip hop authored by an international community of Black photographers In a richly illustrated essay Sargent opens up the conversation around the role of the Black body in the marketplace the cross pollination between art fashion and culture in constructing an image and the institutional barriers that have historically been an impediment to Black photographers participating more fully in the fashion and art industries Fifteen artist portfolios feature the brightest contemporary fashion photographers including Tyler Mitchell the first Black photographer hired to shoot a cover story for American Vogue Campbell Addy founder of the Nii Agency and journal and Nadine Ijewere whose early series title The Misrepresentation of Representation says it all Alongside a series of conversations between generations their images and stories chart the history of inclusion and exclusion in the creation of the commercial Black image while simultaneously proposing a brilliantly reenvisioned future

Study in Black and White Tanya Sheehan, 2018-11-26 In this volume Tanya Sheehan takes humor seriously in order to trace how photographic comedy was used in America and transnationally to express evolving ideas about race black emancipation and civil rights in the mid 1800s and into the twentieth century Sheehan employs a trove of understudied materials to write a new history of photography one that encompasses the rise of the commercial portrait studio in the 1840s the popularization of amateur photography around 1900 and the mass circulation of postcards and other photographic ephemera in the twentieth century She examines the racial politics that shaped some of the most essential elements of the medium from the negative positive process to the convention of the photographic smile The book also places historical discourses in relation to contemporary art that critiques racism through humor including the work of Genevieve Grieves Adrian Piper Lorna Simpson Kara Walker and Fred Wilson By treating racial humor about and within the photographic medium as complex social commentary rather than a collectible curiosity Study in Black and White enriches our understanding of photography in popular culture Transhistorical and interdisciplinary this book will be of vital interest to scholars of art history and visual studies critical race studies U S history and African American studies

The Amateur Photographer & Photography, 1919 NASA Technical Memorandum, 1991 Laruelle Alexander R. Galloway, 2014-10-01 Laruelle is one of the first books in English to undertake in an extended critical survey of the work of the idiosyncratic French thinker Fran ois Laruelle the promulgator of non standard philosophy Laruelle who was born in 1937 has recently gained widespread recognition and Alexander R Galloway suggests that readers may benefit from colliding Laruelle s concept of the One with its binary counterpart the Zero to explore more fully the relationship between philosophy and the digital In Laruelle Galloway argues that the digital is a philosophical concept and not simply a technical one employing a detailed analysis of Laruelle to build this case while referencing other thinkers in the French and Continental traditions including Alain Badiou Gilles Deleuze Martin Heidegger and Immanuel Kant In order to explain clearly Laruelle s concepts such as the philosophical decision and the principle of sufficient philosophy Galloway lays a broad foundation with his discussions of the One as it has developed in continental philosophy the standard model of philosophy and how philosophers view the digital Digital machines dominate today s world while so called digital thinking that is binary thinking such as presence and absence or self and world is often synonymous with what it means to think at all In examining Laruelle and digitality together Galloway shows how Laruelle remains a profoundly non digital thinker perhaps the only non digital thinker today and engages in an extensive discussion on the interconnections between media philosophy and technology

Artificial Darkness Noam M. Elcott,2016-05-30 This ambitious study explores how important darkness artificial darkness was as an actual technology in producing not just photographs but visual novelties and experiments in cinema in the nineteenth century The study plays out against a backdrop of urban history where most scholars have focused on the growth of artificial light and the electrification of cities Elcott s study challenges that approach In considering zones of darkness it ranges from the sites of production darkrooms studios to those of reception theaters cinemas arcades that shaped modern media and perceptions He argues that in the nineteenth century the avant garde was often less interested in the filmed image than in everything surrounding it the screen the projected light the darkness the experience of disembodiment He argues that darkness has a history separate from night evil or the color black and has a specifically modern manifestation as a media technology We are all aware of the velvet light trap in photography but at the heart of this book are technologies of darkness crucial to cinema that were commonly known as the black screen but have over time faded from the storied discourse
