on Crete and mainland Greece This book differs from Martin Bernal's Black Athena in five fundamental ways 1 Our Egyptians are as Anu M Bantu would say Unmistakably Black Bernal's are somewhat Black 2 The main Egyptian players in this study are NOT the Hyksos 3 This study openly acknowledges and emphasizes the Afro-Canaanite origin of the Phoenicians 4 It posits SEVEN different Black origins and influences on Greek civilization 5 It shows with commentary 42 colour pictures of obviously influential people of African appearance depicted in the art of ALL the various phases of Greek culture This book is a must read for all those interested in Black history

Heresy in the University Jacques Berlinerblau, 1999 One of the most controversial books to come out of the academy in the last fifteen years is Martin Bernal's Black Athena It has been a true cause celebre Afrocentrists have both praised the book and claimed that Bernal stole from the work of black scholars to create his study of the Afroasiatic roots of classical civilization Classicists feel passionately about what they perceive as an attack from an outsider on the origins not only of ancient Greece but of their own discipline It seems that everyone has something to say about the book the question is how many really understand it In Heresy in the University Jacques Berlinerblau provides an exegesis of the contents of Black Athena making it accessible to a wider audience As he clarifies and restates Bernal's opus Berlinerblau identifies Bernal's flaws in reasoning and gaps in evidence He cuts to the heart of Bernal's prose singling out the key points of Bernal's argument explaining and arranging them in a cogent manner Berlinerblau addresses the critics' really important objections including his own and links each of them to the appropriate substantive argument in Black Athena He goes beyond simple summary and exposition to present the underlying stated and unstated agendas of Bernal and his critics Ultimately he exposes both sides and asks what the flawed reasoning from all concerned reveals about the stakes in this key academic dispute and what that in turn says about the modern academy Jacques Berlinerblau is an assistant professor and director of Judaic studies at Hofstra University
