Circular Elliptics:

Circular Elliptics Clifford John Olson, 2003-06 Circular Elliptics is a new and radically different approach to the study of ellipses. It offers new insight into the relationships between the ellipse and the circle through the concepts of ellipticity and the elliptic family with its parent circle. In the process a proof for an exact equation for the circumference of the ellipse is developed and from this such measurements as slope, area, curvature and intersectional values arise. Exploring the third dimension relationships between a sphere and an ellipsoid of revolution are outlined. A final offering is an equation for the surface area of an ellipsoid of revolution.

Standards and Specifications for Nonmetallic Minerals and Their Products John Quayle Cannon, 1930 Osseous Projectile Weaponry Michelle C. Langley, 2017-01-27 This volume presents the current state of knowledge on the osseous projectile weaponry that was produced by Pleistocene cultures across the globe. Through cross-cultural and temporal comparison of manufacturing methods, design, use methods, and associated technology, chapters in this volume identify and discuss differences and similarities between these Pleistocene cultures. The central research questions addressed in this volume include: a) how did osseous weaponry technology develop and change through time and can these changes be tied to environmental and/or social influences; b) how did different Pleistocene cultures design and adapt their osseous weaponry technology to their environment as well as changes in that environment; and c) can we identify cultural interaction between neighboring groups through the analysis of osseous weapons technology and if so, can we use these items to track the movement of peoples and/or ideas across the landscape. Through addressing these three central research questions, this volume creates an integrated understanding of osseous technology during a vital period in Modern Human cultural development, which will be useful for students and advanced researchers alike.
