Citizens Hall Making Real Democracy Work:

Governing Ourselves? Mary Louise McAllister, 2011-11-01 Popular rhetoric suggests that the twenty first century has ushered in an era of homogeneity Urbanization globalization amalgamation media conglomeration and technological convergence have become familiar terms Given the pressures of integration and assimilation how are people within communities able to make decisions about their own environment whether individually or collectively To what extent can they govern themselves Governing Ourselves explores issues of influence and power within local institutions and decision making processes using numerous illustrations from municipalities across Canada It shows how communities large and small from Toronto to Iqaluit have distinctive political cultures and therefore respond differently to changing global and domestic environments Case studies of Prince George Sherbrooke Saint John and Kitchener Waterloo are used to illuminate historical and contemporary challenges to local governance This stimulating book covers traditional topics such as government structures and institutions and intergovernmental relations It also reaches more broadly into areas of inquiry relevant to geography urban planning environmental studies public administration sociology and Canadian studies
