artists and art historians with a common means to reassess what art could be and do in the world Bailey assesses the results of artful and scholarly inquiries combining creative activity with intellectual rigor to proffer new approaches to a variety of social and environmental concerns ranging from questions about human identity including race class gender and sexuality to activist efforts to redress everything from abortion access to migrants rights to climate change This book provides both a historical overview of these developments and close analyses of key works and texts spanning 1950 to the present and encompassing broad geographic scope with special attention paid to Indigenous art The book will be of interest to scholars working in art history and contemporary art
