Current Topics in Cellular Regulation Bernard L. Horecker, Earl R. Stadtman, 2014-06-28 Current Topics in Cellular Regulation Volume 1 presents the fundamental mechanisms involved in the regulation of diverse cellular activities including the transfer of genetic information intermediary metabolism and cellular differentiation This book discusses the advances in the general area of cellular regulation Organized into 10 chapters this volume begins with an overview of the molecular models that attempt to provide the correlation of the kinetic properties of the protein with its structural architecture This text then examines several aspects of metabolism and of metabolic enzymes that appear to represent adaptations to the need to limit solute concentrations and conserve solvent capacity Other chapters consider the factors that determine the overall rates of metabolic pathways This book discusses as well the biosynthetic pathways leading to the branched chain amino acids The final chapter deals with the structure and mechanism of action of pyruvate carboxylase This book is a valuable resource for biologists and biochemists

Principles of Metabolic Control in Mammalian Systems Herman, 2013-11-11 In this work we present the basic principles of metabolic control which we hope will serve as a foundation for the vast array of factual matter which the biochemist and the physician engaged in metabolic research must accumulate Accordingly we attempt to set forth these principles along with sufficient explanation so that the reader may apply them to the ever expanding literature of biochemistry If we are successful this will provide a theoretical approach which can be applied to any given set of metabolic reactions It is impossible to enumerate each and every biochemical reaction and pathway since such a work would be too unwieldy for efficient use Rather we hope our presentation of the principles of metabolic control will be sufficiently basic to be of lasting usefulness no matter how detailed biochemistry may become We would like to be able to condense biochemistry into a theoretical biology that will not only allow for the general treatment of any given reaction but will enable predictions to be made as to the existence of necessary pathways and the consequences of altered control Such is not possible today but this may be accomplished in the future We believe it is now possible to institute the beginnings of such a theoretical biology

Current Topics in Cellular Regulation Bernard L. Horecker,Earl R. Stadtman,2014-06-28 Current Topics in Cellular Regulation Volume 28 is a collection of papers that deals with enzyme enzyme interactions regulation of metabolic reaction pathways the relevance of intracellular amino acid pool in the regulation of protein metabolism and the production of superoxide by phagocytic leukocytes Other papers discuss the regulation of adrenergic receptor function by phosphorylation a membrane bound metallo endopeptidase meprin as well as the covalent modification as a mechanism of marking proteins for degradation One paper notes that the transfer pathway involving enzyme enzyme recognition is associated with molecular specificity features over those demanded by the molecular structural constraints of the individual enzyme sites The Albery and Knowles principle under certain conditions shows that intermediary metabolites within a particular pathway exist in states of nearly equal free energy One paper describes that the amino acid pool size and content are governed by the conditioning of intracellular proteins and the metabolic activity of the cell The paper also suggests that intracellular pools do not regulate protein metabolism The collection can prove beneficial for biochemists micro biologists cellular researchers and academicians involved in the study of cellular biology or physiology
