This template covers guideline considerations that public and private foundations should take into account when contributing to a (c)(4) organization.

Expenditure responsibility

Inquire with the (c)(4) organization about the (c)(4) organization's other grant histories and if the (c)(4) organization met the conditions of other grants appropriately

Obtain a written grant agreement stating that no grant funds may be used for lobbying, voter registration, grants to individuals, or non-charitable purposes

Obtain a written report from the (c)(4) recipient on how the grant monies were used and met with the fund conditions

Include a detailed report on the donation in the foundation's IRS reports

Public foundations

- Public foundations can offer donations to 501(c)(4)s for any activity that the foundation is permitted to engage in, including lobbying.
- Unless a grant agreement states that the funds are not used for lobbying, the donation counts toward the foundation's lobbying limit.

Private foundations

- Private foundations can offer contributions to 501(c)(4) organizations for any action that a 501(c)(3) organization can do, except for lobbying and voter registration.
