Custom Published Juvenile Law:

Department of State Publication, 1959 NIJ Reports, 1986 Transforming Justice, Transforming Lives April Bernard, 2015-10-30 What is a just response to persons seeking to desist from criminal behavior In America over the last several decades mass incarceration has emerged as the prevailing policy response to crime and reoffending The majority of those who are imprisoned will be released and those that are released tend to return to communities challenged by high rates of violence crime unemployment and poverty In these conditions without some type of intervention persons with criminal histories are likely to reoffend April Bernard through compelling interviews and field research with formerly gang affiliated women illuminates how through community support and their active engagement in peacemaking work in distressed neighborhoods throughout Chicago they were able to desist from crime rebuild their lives and become meaningful contributors to their communities This book explores the role of community in facilitating the commitment to desist from crime by offering critical support and opportunities for stewardship Bernard provides a timely analysis of the transformative potential of a new perspective on criminal justice which incorporates stewardship and community engagement as a fundamental principal in the response to persons seeking to desist from criminal behavior particularly women The book combines moving personal narratives with concrete practical evidence to call for an alternative to ideology that supports the existing punitive policies and practices of the criminal justice system and the corresponding lack of interventions and opportunities for persons seeking to desist from crime This deeply informed and perceptive analysis concludes with suggestions for alternatives that fit within a transformative justice paradigm Juvenile Justice Robert W. Drowns, Kären M. Hess, 2000 This book offers a highly accessible comprehensive look at the juvenile justice system With pedagogy fully integrated throughout the text readers will easily make the connections between theory and practice The text explores the various programs and processes that exist in the juvenile justice system including prevention efforts through school and community based programs and provides an understanding of the history current state and future of juvenile justice The Truce Karen Umemoto, 2018-07-05 This ethnography of a gang war in the Los Angeles neighborhood of Oakwood just blocks from the famed Venice Beach boardwalk provides a rare eyewitness account of the urban violence pervasive in the recent history of the United States With seventeen people killed and more than fifty injured the hostilities over ten months in 1993 and 1994 marked the peak of gang violence in the history of Los Angeles a city once labeled the gang capital of the nation The conflict began as a quarrel among individuals some of whom had gang affiliations Over time the feud engulfed families and soon grew into a sustained clash between African American and Latino gangs Eventually victims fell who were not members of opposing gangs but who fit certain racial and gender profiles The conflict began to take on the attributes of what one local newspaper sensationalized as a race war Karen Umemoto lived nearby during this conflict and undertook two years of ethnographic research during and immediately following the spate of killings She now offers a nuanced analysis of the trajectory and eventual end of this acute crisis Her interviews with gang members neighborhood residents business leaders police officers and gang intervention workers reveal the complexity of contemporary American urban conflict The Truce highlights the differences in interpretations among combatants witnesses and law enforcement agents and others whose actions often had unintended consequences Drawing on her experience living in multicultural Los Angeles and on the latest scholarship in a wide variety of disciplines Umemoto provides much needed guidance for policymakers and concerned members of the public faced with violence in an ever changing urban landscape
