A History of Death in the Hebrew Bible Matthew J. Suriano, 2018 Postmortem existence in the Hebrew Bible Old Testament was rooted in mortuary practices and conceptualized through the embodiment of the dead But this idea of the afterlife was not hopeless or fatalistic consigned to the dreariness of the tomb The dead were cherished and remembered their bones were cared for and their names lived on as ancestors This book examines the concept of the afterlife in the Hebrew Bible by studying the treatment of the dead as revealed both in biblical literature and in the material remains of the southern Levant The mortuary culture of Judah during the Iron Age is the starting point for this study The practice of collective burial inside a Judahite rock cut bench tomb is compared to biblical traditions of family tombs and joining one's ancestors in death This archaeological analysis which also incorporates funerary inscriptions will shed important insight into concepts found in biblical literature such as the construction of the soul in death the nature of corpse impurity and the idea of Sheol In Judah and the Hebrew Bible death was a transition that was managed through the ritual actions of the living The connections that were forged through such actions such as ancestor veneration were socially meaningful for the living and insured a measure of immortality for the dead

Menexenus. Index Plato,1873 Personal Care in an Impersonal World John Morgan,2020-11-25 The purpose of this volume is to ask and propose a positive answer to the question Can we attend to the personhood of individuals within systems and cultures which are mass oriented One of the most interesting changes in contemporary thinking has been the emphasis on the unique person While the distinction between a person a unique rational being and individual one of several similar things has long existed it is in the twentieth century that we seem to have become fully conscious of this distinction There is good reason for such as emphasis today Repeatedly in this century the case of the person was deemed less important than some policy Innocent persons slaughtered in the name of some ism political bombings and kidnappings and mass unemployment to name but a few The cause of our dehumanization seems to be the reduction of the individual person to a part of the political economic or religious system Laws.
