Carl Andre:

Carl Andre, Sculpture, 1959-78 Carl Andre, Whitechapel Art Gallery, 1978     About Carl Andre Paula Feldman, Alistair Rider, Karsten Schubert, 2006 Carl Andre is one of the most significant and influential artists of his generation. Alongside contemporaries such as Robert Morris and Donald Judd, his radically minimalist sculpture and poetry has fundamentally shifted the definitions and boundaries of art. Spanning four decades, this book charts the gradual evolution of consensus about the meaning of his art. The most significant essays and exhibition reviews have been collated into one volume, including texts written by some of the most influential art historians and critics: Clement Greenberg, Donald Kuspit, Lucy R. Lippard, Robert C. Morgan, Barbara Rose, and Roberta Smith. Some essays appear here in English for the first time. This volume is an indispensable anthology on one of the central figures of Minimalism.     Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth 110 Modern Art Museum of Fort Worth, Michael Auping, 2002 Together they present a broad range of styles and media from oil, acrylic, and mixed media paintings and drawings to photography, sculpture, installation art, and video and digital imagery.     Carl Andre, Sculpture, 1959-1978 Carl Andre, Whitechapel Art Gallery, 1978     Carl Andre Carl Andre, 1984     Carl Andre Alistair Rider, 2011-07-13 A thorough and well-illustrated account of the leading Minimalist artist Carl Andre.     New York Magazine, 1985-12-16 New York Magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country. With award-winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion, the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea.     Carl Andre in his time, 2015     Minimalism James Meyer, James Sampson Meyer, 2004-01-01 Critic and art historian Meyer, a leading authority on Minimalism, examines the style from its inception to its broader cultural influence. This sourcebook features an excellent selection of nearly 300 color and b/w images to illustrate the surprising variety of the work.     Carl Andre, 1984     Minimal Art Daniel Marzona, 2004 The bare minimum. Often regarded as a backlash against abstract expressionism, Minimalism was characterized by simplified, stripped-down forms and materials used to express ideas in a direct and impersonal manner. By presenting artworks as simple objects, minimalist artists sought to communicate esthetic ideals without reference to expressive or historical themes. This critical movement, which began in the 1960s and branched out into land art, performance art, and conceptual art, is still a major influence today. This book explains the how, why, where, and when of Minimal Art and the artists who helped define it. Featured artists: Carl Andre, Stephen Antonakos, Jo Baer, Larry Bell, Ronald Bladen, Walter De Maria, Dan Flavin, Robert Grosvenor, Eva Hesse, Donald Judd, Gary Kuehn, Sol LeWitt, Robert Mangold, John McCracken, Robert Morris, Robert Ryman, Fred Sandback, Richard Serra, Tony Smith, Frank Stella, Robert Smithson, Anne Truitt. About the Series: Each book in TASCHEN's Basic Genre Series features a detailed, illustrated introduction plus a timeline of the most important political, cultural, and social events that took place during that period. a

They are organized alphabetically by subject under such entries as Art and Capitalism Childhood Entropy After Smithson Matter My Work Other Artists and Poetry and they include Andre s reflections on Michelangelo and Duchamp on Stein and Marx and such contemporaries as Eva Hesse Robert Smithson Robert Morris and Damien Hirst Carl Andre s writing and its materiality its stress on the visual and tactile qualities of language takes its place beside his sculpture and its materiality its revelation of matter as matter rather than matter as symbol Both assert the ethical and political primacy of matter in a culture that prizes the replica the insubstantial and the virtual I am not an idealist as an artist says Andre I try to discover my visions in the conditions of the world It s the conditions which are important Carl Andre ,1969 Carl Andre Carl Andre,2007 We are delighted to present an important group of early Carl Andre poems collages and other works on paper from 1958 1966 Andre s poetry has been actively shown within the context of his other work and included in monographs from the 1960s onward The majority of similar material from this period is owned by the Stedelijk Museum Amsterdam and the Chinati Foundation in Marfa Texas so this exhibition is a unique opportunity to experience such work in New York Researching this material has been enriching particularly in light of the gallery s commitment to understanding contemporary art through the filter of historic works most specifically following our 2005 exhibition Looking at Words the Formal Use of Text in Modern and Contemporary Works on Paper This concentrated experience has revealed to us how much this work reflects current ideas in contemporary art It has also been an extraordinary resource in understanding the visual language of Andre s work in its totality Though early in date the included work physically reveals its direct relationship with his sculpture illuminating ideas about both form and content These works challenge our approach to reading by using words as particles that when put together emerge as form Andre recently said to us that while poetry is often considered to be prose put through the filter of music he considers his poems to be words put through the filter of abstraction In interacting with the work over a significant period of time we felt that that the most compelling way to structure the exhibition was to expose the common threads that run throughout this material formal constructs such as grids fields verticality pictorial imagery and repetitive sequences content such as color as subject element as subject interest in early American history particularly that of Massachusetts discourse about other artists and art and relationships to the history of poetry Included in Andre s catalogue from his show at the Haags Gemeentemuseum Hollis Frampton states Carl Andre and I met as schoolboys We were interested in science and art It was customary at the time for young men with diffuse artistic intentions to fancy themselves poets accordingly we both were poets Reacting against Clement Greenberg s declaration that the trajectory of modernism was to flatten the medium to a purely visual surface minimalist artists took control of the critical discourse Through published essays and manifestos artists emphasized the sensory experience of the primary elements of their works As artists writing became more significant the distinction between sculpture painting and language blurred While his colleagues used a prose style of writing to explain and encourage a new literality in art Carl Andre rebelled against the dominance of structured language by focusing on the objecthood the essential property of a word or a letter By tearing up the roots of what he called the prevailing order of language Andre succeeded in developing a criticism that was not divorced from its object Andre s invocation of other artists poets and critics Frank Stella Hollis Frampton Eugene Goossen Ralph Waldo Emerson Hart Krane and Willem de Kooning among others speaks to the scholarly and collaborative atmosphere in New York in the early 1960s Around the same time Andre and Frampton met weekly to discuss their ideas on art literature poetry and other topics using the mechanical medium of a typewriter Their communication was published in 1981 in the book 12 Dialogues Andre s relationships with other artists had a reciprocal effect on the theoretical and practical developments across their work In 1959 when Frank Stella was working on his black paintings he invited Andre to work in his studio In the studio Andre made one of his first sculptures Last Ladder 1959 a found 7 foot length of timber in which he cut recessed impressions Stella pointed out how the uncut surfaces of the timber were also sculpture which led Andre to explore the essential qualities of an object by dissolving the connection between symbol and referent Although the sculpture is what it is the recessed cuts suggest a figurative space representing the rungs on a ladder Similarly Andre s poems evolved from lyrical to literal forms In his vertical poems Andre experimented with form and the disruption of language by taking words from their common architectural orientation horizontal lines that read left to right and re ordering them to create a new system of reading the words are stacked on top of each other as individual particles but still construct a readable sentence It was in his sculpture Pyramid 1959 where the figurative was erased by the method of stacking identical wood segments in a repetitive form which like Frank Stella s black paintings appeared as if the process had been simply mechanical Andre has described Stella s method as neutralizing gesture by using uniform identical and repetitive brush strokes thereby transforming the ground of the canvas into a field of the painting In this manner through the mechanism of the typewriter Andre was able to experiment with his own repetition and uniformity in creating patterns grids and modular squares of words The words like his sculptures have a mechanical quality but through interaction with the work the text becomes an immersive experience Andre s relationship with poetry did not exist in a vacuum The connection between writing and art can be traced throughout the first half of the 20th century where poetry was an important medium for artists Poets such as Gertrude Stein E E Cummings and Ezra Pound all experimented with syntax rhythm and repetition and in turn influenced the art created around them The interplay between art and poetry ricochets through Dada Surrealism Constructivism and Futurism In the 1950 s and 1960 s with Fluxus and Concrete Poetry artists creating poetry as their work instead of merely being influenced by it was at its height Although the works in this show represent Andre s textual oeuvre from 1958 1966 he continued to write poetry well into the 1970s As a child Andre witnessed the joy his father a Swedish immigrant experienced upon discovering new words in English His childhood home was filled with his mother s own amateur poems and he spent evenings on his father s lap reading traditional English poetry It was through these experiences that Andre developed an appreciation for the individuality of words and unearthed what he describes as a quarry of materials Drawing on his own history poems he admired and historic texts he used words as found objects and rearranged them in poems such as Quincy Bay and Harper's Map Echoes of Andre's sculptures can be discerned in his poetry created by the arrangement of the words on the page the shape of the words together the individuality of the words and the space in between But which way do the echoes reverberate Is the poetry in the sculpture or the sculpture in the poetry Since Andre has collapsed traditional language structures he has ensured that these questions are unanswerable but are also essentially part of the experience that continues to resonate Andre explains that he considers a road to be the ideal sculpture because like Brancusi's Endless Column 1926 which appeared to continue indefinitely in vertical space a road achieves the same boundless quality but on a horizontal plane In the same way through his work Andre encourages us to set on a journey to new interactions with language art and society encouraging us to understand our environment through its granularity and to carry those experiences with us always engaging always learning always unfolding you change and unfold if you truly perceive Carl Andre Carl Andre Early Works on Paper 1958 1966 Andrea Rosen Gallery NY March 16 April 21 2007
