Quatri me de couverture The Closing of the Frontier John G. Butcher,2022-07-18 This book is the first on the history of the marine fisheries of Southeast Asia It takes as its central theme the movement of fisheries into new fishing grounds particularly the diverse ecosystems that make up the seas of Southeast Asia This process accelerated between the 1950s and 1970s in what the author calls the great fish race Catches soared as the population of the region grew demand from Japan and North America for shrimps and tuna increased and fishers adopted more efficient ways of locating catching and preserving fish But the great fish race soon brought about the severe depletion of one fish population after another while pollution and the destruction of mangroves and coral reefs degraded fish habitats Today the relentless movement into new fishing grounds has come to an end for there are no new fishing grounds to exploit The frontier of fisheries has closed The challenge now is to exploit the seas in ways that preserve the diversity of marine life while providing the people of the region with a source of food long into the future

Marine Ecology Michel J. Kaiser,Simon Jennings,David Thomas,2020 There has never been a more important time to understand our marine environment Oceans influence our climate and provide a valuable source of food to billions of people They are vital to our very existence and they are under threat Clearly written and beautifully illustrated Marine Ecology Processes Systems and Impacts addresses the fundamental global processes of primary and microbial production that characterize marine systems before going on to detail the diverse systems we see around the world from coral reefs to polar regions from the shores to the deep sea The third section of the book Impacts tackles some of the most pressing environmental issues relevant to marine ecology including climate change conservation pollution disturbance the impact of fisheries and aquaculture New to this edition A new chapter on Climate Change equips you to think more deeply about climate related issues by explaining the mechanisms through which oceans respond to the altering climate A new chapter on Sea and Society delves into the economic and sociological relationship between human beings and the ocean helping you to fully understand the value of marine ecosystems to mankind and how to manage this relationship responsibly A comprehensive update of the Microbial Production chapter has re organised and refreshed the scientific material presented to give a thorough grounding in the chemical principles that inform key microbial processes in marine ecology
