

Foreword by Peter Finch lloyd robson cardiff cut

'some of the best dialect writing in these islands, ever' niall griffiths, the guardian

'innovative, hilarious, exhilarating, remarkably astute... delivered with a sandpaper sense of humour this frantic, sometimes savage eruption of chaos & poetry will leave you exhausted... truly unique... great stuff!' the big issue

'it's a tonsil-ripping cocktail of a book.
down it in one!'

The Future of German Studies Tina-Karen Pusse, Olga Springer, 2025-11-03 Across Europe and North America language and literature departments are contracting at a pace that would have been unthinkable two decades ago Courses are frozen programmes merged or dissolved and the study of specific languages German not least among them is too often dismissed as a dispensable ornament of the past Beneath this development lies a familiar and deeply flawed assumption that in an age of translation driven by large language models and frictionless global communication the value of linguistic competence is decreasing If we can converse through our devices why still learn to speak and think in another tongue As we know language learning is about much more than communication It is about metacognition about understanding how thought takes shape in and through language But even more fundamentally it forces us to ask what communication itself really means Generative AI Large language models may allow us to make ourselves understood at a basic level but true communication is not about transmission alone At its core lies understanding others their assumptions histories and emotional registers and developing the sensibility to perceive meaning within a specific cultural and linguistic horizon Machines can translate words but they cannot translate worlds The work of learning a language remains at its core an ethical practice an act of attentiveness to otherness In addition the future of Large Language Models relies on constant new high quality human input and human feedback loops evaluating for example the quality of translations Without this it has been shown the quality of their outputs deteriorates quickly There is also the matter of resilience The assumption that so called Artificial Intelligence will always be available affordable and free from ideological inflections attributes already debatable in many of its current incarnations is a form of collective wishful thinking What happens when access to such tools is increasingly monetized or politically restricted What happens in times of war electricity outages censorship or digital collapse Linguistic self sufficiency our ability to read think and communicate across cultures without mediation may soon be more than a scholarly virtue It may be a civic necessity The Meat Trades' Journal and Cattle Salesman's Gazette ,1930 The Commercial Grower ,1927
