Countertransference And Older Clients:

Countertransference and Older Clients Bonnie Genevay, Renee S. Katz, 1990-10 When working with older clients or clients who have become instantly old due to disability can a professional's personal feelings affect the helping process Countertransference and Older Clients explores this issue and focuses on the use of countertransference the powerful linkage between a helper's personal feelings and his/her professional work This practical volume shows helping professionals how to confront and examine their own denial fear of growing old being helpless and dying anger related to death and loss and their need for control Contributors address such issues as how practitioners overhelp and underhelp some clients because of their feelings and experiences how personal and family biases contribute to inappropriate diagnosis referral and treatment why service is prolonged with some clients and terminated too soon with others and how fear of AIDS death and suicide hinder effective support and treatment In addition actual case studies are woven throughout to illustrate how practitioners can effectively put their feelings and behaviors to use during the helping process Written for practitioners in the field of aging mental health social work nursing psychology and psychiatry Countertransference and Older Clients is an important therapeutic tool for all helping professionals Throughout this clear concise interesting little book the authors communicate a warmth and sensitivity to the needs and feelings of both helpers and older clients One interesting feature is the inclusion of a chapter written by an older worker an often neglected perspective in gerontological literature Journal of Psychology and Theology Bonnie Genevay and Renee Katz have made an enormous contribution to gerontological practice by focusing on the conscious and unconscious attitudes and feelings of practitioners toward their older clients which enhance or diminish their helpfulness to older people In this very useful volume they and other experts cover a wide range of problematic situations including disability dementia and dying with empathy Teachers and supervisors as well as those working in direct practice will find this book highly instructive Barbara Silverstone Executive Director The Lighthouse The New York Association for the Blind This unique text approaches many aspects of aging and countertransference of caregivers not elsewhere seen in the vast array of gerontological publications It provides a sensitive and compassionate presentation of the various issues and problems of countertransference experienced by individuals providing care to elders in a variety of difficult situations I highly recommend this text for its unique content warmth of presentation and insights into relationships with the old I have come away enriched and enlightened Priscilla Ebersoll Ph D San Francisco State University This book is a must for anyone who works with older clients It contains dozens of case examples of how our own desires and fears about aging and conditions associated with it interfere with our capacity to function as professionals should It is full of suggestions for dealing constructively with our emotional reactions that occur in the conduct of our professional lives It deals with important topics such as terminal illness and death suicidal elders disability and AIDS It is clear concise and very useful Robert C Atchley Miami University Oxford Ohio A profound respect and caring for both older clients and service providers permeate each chapter The book is exceptionally strong in its comprehensive and sensitive review of issues that many of us do not like to face how our own fears and attitudes about aging may interfere with our professional effectiveness Included are topics that have not been adequately dealt with elsewhere By clearly and sensitively highlighting the importance of self awareness to professional effectiveness the authors have made a significant contribution to the practice literature and ultimately to practice with older adults Generations This book makes a major contribution to the field by supplying numerous sensitive and revealing examples of personal emotional reactions to working with older adults It should be read by everyone who counsels older adults and by students aspiring to careers in serving the elderly Bob G Knight Merle H Bensinger Associate Professor Gerontology and Psychology University of Southern California The book s strength an important one lies in its conciseness of writing and clarity It is an easy read Yet it offers valuable insights and practical suggestions The topics too while diverse are pulled into a homogeneous frame so as to make the book extremely cohesive not easy in an edited work The offering of case histories makes the book come alive as the reader becomes enmeshed in the dialogue scenario going on between client and worker The book should make a genuine impact on the field of aging promoting growth in workers and clients alike Clinical Gerontologist Countertransference and Older Clients offers a well written collection of articles by several authors dealing with aging loss disability and death It explores feelings that emerge between professional caregivers and their elderly clients in various settings Other topics include suicidal elders AIDS and HIV illness dementia substance abuse sexuality and nursing home placement Good case examples are provided A valuable addition to the body of knowledge for professionals working with older adults NASW California News Psychotherapy with Older Adults Bob G. Knight, 2004-02-20 This Third Edition of the bestselling Psychotherapy with Older Adults continues to offer students and professionals a thorough overview of psychotherapy with older adults Using the contextual cohort based maturity specific challenge CCMSC model it draws upon findings from scientific gerontology and life span developmental psychology to describe how psychotherapy needs to be adapted for work with older adults as well as when it is similar to therapeutic work with younger adults Sensitively linking both research and experience author Bob G Knight provides a practical account of the knowledge technique and skills necessary to work with older adults in a therapeutic relationship This volume considers the essentials of gerontology as well as the nature of therapy in depth focusing on special content areas and common themes Psychotherapy with Older Adults includes a comprehensive discussion of assessment and options for intervention Numerous case examples illustrate the dynamics of the therapeutic task and issues covered in therapy and stress the human element in working with older adults A concluding chapter considers ethical questions and the future of psychotherapy with older adults The author has updated the Third Edition to reflect new research findings and has written two entirely new chapters covering psychotherapy with persons with dementia and psychotherapy with caregivers of frail older adults Since its initial publication in 1986 the book has been used as a course text and a professional reference around the world including translations into French Dutch Chinese and Japanese It is a vital resource for practicing therapists and counselors who work with older adults and is also ideally suited as a text for advanced students in psychology social work gerontology and nursing Praise for Previous Editions Bob G Knight s largest contribution is his excellent discussion of therapy The book is clearly written with a good use of summaries and case examples to clarify the major points By linking research findings to practice experience Knight has provided a pragmatic introduction which should be helpful to psychiatrists psychologists social workers and psychiatric nurses working with older adults JOURNAL OF APPLIED GERONTOLOGY I recommend this book to anyone interested in working with the elderly partly because of the content and partly because the author presents the case for doing psychotherapy with the elderly with realism and enthusiasm BEHAVIOR RESEARCH THERAPY Counseling Older Adults John Blando,2014-04-08 Counseling older adults is not equivalent to counseling the general population and specialized skills and knowledge as well as sensitivity to the contexts in which older adults live are essential in working successfully with this population This text provides an introduction to gerontological counseling integrating the basic skills of working with older adults with theories of counseling and aging Specific counseling issues discussed include mental health counseling career counseling rehabilitation counseling and family counseling Along with these important contextual factors such as race culture social class social justice spirituality Alzheimer s and other dementias and family issues are considered in light of the latest research Each chapter contains case studies discussion questions a glossary and suggestions for further reading to reinforce the material presented Principles and Practice of Geriatric Psychiatry Marc E. Agronin,Gabe J. Maletta,2006 Written by noted authorities in geriatric psychiatry this volume is a clinically oriented guide to the diagnostic workup and treatment of psychiatric and neuropsychiatric disorders in elderly patients The book describes in detail the neurologic and neuropsychiatric patient assessment and the use of all treatment modalities both psychotherapeutic and pharmacologic in elderly patients Chapters discuss the treatment of disorders in all clinical settings inpatient outpatient emergency primary care assisted living and long term care Algorithms for workup and treatment are included as well as case studies and personal accounts by patients and care providers Appendices provide drug information and additional resources Psychotherapy with Older Adults Bob Knight,1996-03-21 This second edition of a practical guide for experienced therapists and students in clinical training brings together current gerontological theory research and clinical experience with the elderly Handbook of Counseling and Psychotherapy with Older Adults Michael Duffy,1999-07-15 With the graying of society therapists are seeing more and more older clients In this book editor Michael Duffy brings together leading experts to explain the unique problems of older adults and describe effective treatment techniques Older Adults in Psychotherapy Bob Knight,1992-01-09 What is it like to counsel the older client What issues are most often addressed What mistakes pitfalls and oversights can be made in counseling the older client And which counseling techniques work best with older adults Reassuring to both new and experienced practitioners and students Older Adults in Psychotherapy reaffirms what working with the older client is all about Older Adults in Psychotherapy vividly presents 20 case histories of older people in psychotherapy Written to stand alone or in conjunction with Bob Knight s successful volume Psychotherapy with Older Adults this volume covers many important issues including depression grieving preparation for death caregiving issues anxiety sexuality and long term mental disorders In each chapter the case presentation is followed by an explication of the content themes as well as a specific discussion on rapport building treatment techniques used in the case gerontological issues and transference issues Also introduced is a maturity specific challenge model for thinking about therapy with the elderly Through the insightful presentation of case histories Knight helps practitioners and students in gerontology social work psychiatry psychology nursing and health care become more sensitive to the needs of older clients and more effective in their treatment techniques The book makes an important contribution to the field It will be useful to therapists in training from a variety of disciplines for example social workers psychologists psychiatrists and geriatric nurse practitioners to faculty members involved in training new professionals in these disciplines and to current practitioners in the fields of psychiatry psychology social work and nursing who want to extend and expand their expertise in aging All of these audiences will find the material very useful very accessible with clear implications for their day to day practice This is a very important book on a timely and important topic Michael A Smyer The Pennsylvania State University The case histories vividly demonstrate the mix of medical social and psychological problems and that in itself will make a strong contribution to the field Practitioners at all levels can learn something both from what Knight does and doesn t do in his case histories It should be a particularly illuminating experience for beginning therapists Ruth Campbell The University of Michigan Medical Center Ann Arbor Older Adults in Psychotherapy definitely makes a distinct contribution in the field Real full bodied cases about elderly people are hard to find I would buy the book and inform colleagues about it and I would use it as a text in classes such as Counseling Older Adults There is an impressive willingness on Dr Knight s part to describe his own feelings failings oversights etc He comes through as emotionally accessible and believable as a therapist It would be wonderful for students in training to read such accounts and for those of us long graduated to be reassured that others also deal with these issues Sandra M Powers The University of North Carolina at Greensboro Throughout the book Knight adopts a very honest and personal style and he is not afraid to include his feelings or the shortcomings in his work His open rejection of a loss deficit model of ageing in favour of one emphasizing growth toward maturity is refreshing optimistic and in my experience more accurate Certainly this is a book that will resonate with those familiar with this population as well as being a useful source of inspiration for those new in this area Clinical Psychology Forum
