Adoption Changing Families Changing Times:

Adoption Anthony Douglas, Terry Philpot, 2003-09-02 Adoption Changing Families Changing Times draws together contributions from all those with an interest in adoption adopted people birth parents and adoptive parents practitioners and managers in the statutory and voluntary sectors academics and policy makers Chapters on research and policy are interspersed with those from people with first hand experience of being adopted becoming an adoptive parent or giving a child up for adoption Together they provide unique insights into a subject that although regularly in the media is often surrounded by prejudice and misconception Topics covered include children and young people in care trying to adopt waiting for adoption life after adoption the politics of adoption This accessible text offers a comprehensive view of adoption policy practice and services and analyses why adoption has become so controversial It provides professional and general reader alike with a fully rounded picture of adoption and exposes some of the myths surrounding it Assessing the Support

Needs of Adopted Children and Their Families Liza Bingley Miller, Arnon Bentovim, 2006-12 Written in consultation with a range of experts clinicians and practitioners as well as adoptive children families and birth relatives this book gives helpful guidance on making evidence based assessments and planning successful adoption support Key features include a discussion of the main themes of adoption and pointers for practice in relation to the Assessment Framework a guide to the use of evidence based approaches to assessment including the tools commissioned by the Department of Health and the Department for Education a model for analysis and planning and planning support and interventions an investigation of the source range and value of support services and interventions that can promote the wellbeing of adopted children their adoptive families and birth relatives Packed with practical advice case examples and models of good practice this book is invaluable for social workers and managers involved with the adoption process and the well being of children and families It is also essential reading for social work students learning about working with children and families Child Protection

Assessment Following Serious Injuries to Infants Peter Dale, Richard Green, Ron Fellows, 2005-12-13 This book is especially welcome because of the scholarship and thoughtfulness evident throughout Dr Peter Reder Child Psychiatrist London How do child protection professionals and courts make judgments on whether serious injuries to infants are due to abuse If injuries are considered to be the result of abuse in what circumstances can it be considered safe for the infant to return home Child Protection Assessment Following Serious Injuries to Infants is concerned with helping child protection professionals and courts make the right decisions and avoid errors that can have disastrous consequences for children and families Drawing upon the extensive clinical and research experience of the authors this authoritative text Reviews research on the causes of child abuse and problems in diagnosing abuse Examines the views of parents who consider that they have been wrongly accused of child abuse Draws specific attention to the need to assess potential for change in families and considers in detail how this can be achieved Highlights skills issues that are necessary for undertaking appropriate assessments Identifies key factors that are indicative of reunification in some cases and factors that contraindicate reunification in others With its evidence based approach this book will be a valuable resource for all child protection professionals It will also be of use to health professionals legal professionals researchers lecturers and students of social work

Surviving and Thriving in Care and Beyond Sara Barratt, Wendy Lobatto, 2018-03-21 This is a book about children who have to grow up apart from their biological parents the impact of this on their lives and on those who look after them and how we can respond to the challenges this poses in order that they can grow and develop in healthy directions It provides a systemic framework to describe working with children and adults who are or have been in care or adopted as well as working with their adoptive parents and carers highlighting their own narratives and those of professionals working with them The authors have tried to make space for multiple voices to speak and describe aspects of the care system and life beyond There are contributions from those who have been brought up away from their biological parents their adoptive parents and foster or kinship carers There are also contributions from researchers and professionals with expertise in working with children in substitute care who describe their theoretical and clinical approaches privileging the voices of those with whom they work

Early Childhood Education Moncrieff Cochran, Rebecca S. New, 2007-01-30 Early childhood education has reached a level of unprecedented national and international focus Parents policy makers and politicians have opinions as well as new questions about what how when and where young children should learn Teachers and program administrators now find curriculum discussions linked to dramatic new understandings about children s early learning and brain development Early childhood education is also a major topic of concern internationally as social policy analysts point to its role in a nation s future economic outlook As a groundbreaking contribution to its field this four volume handbook discusses key historical and contemporary issues research theoretical perspectives national policies and practices

Social Work with Looked After Children Christine Cocker, Lucille Allain, 2008-05-15 Written for social work degree students this practical book looks at the experience of children in need who live in state care and the social worker s role in working with these children Topics include relevant studies and legislation residential care foster care adoption and leaving care The book also looks at the needs of children and young people living away from home and discusses both the Looked After Children LAC system and consultation with looked after children Throughout practical examples and case studies encourage readers to apply their new knowledge to practice

Finding Families, Finding Ourselves Veronica Jane Strong-Boag, 2006 In Finding Families Finding Ourselves historian Veronica Strong Boag examines the realities behind idealized pictures of adoptive families rescuing needy children or adoptees fitting seamlessly into new families The first comprehensive examination of the history of adoption in Canada Finding Families Finding Ourselves draws on a broad range of sources from legal cases sociological studies and government policies to fiction and first hand accounts Strong Boag argues that adoption far from being a marginal aspect of Canadian history goes to the heart of who we are as individuals and as a national community With its complicated dance of obligations and rights insiders and outsiders acceptance and rejection adoption reflects the ways in which we as families and as communities have consciously and unconsciously remade ourselves in the course of creating our future

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2003 Children in Changing Families Lydia Lambert, Jane Streater, 1980

Canada's Changing Families Maureen Baker, Vanier Institute of the Family, 1994 Changing Times Jean Whyte, 1995 The effects of the socio political environment on the self concept and personal identity of Catholic children in West Belfast and Protestant children of East Belfast are examined in this study It describes their everyday lives and their attitudes towards themselves and their future in 1981 when there was no end in sight to the politically motivated violence in Northern Ireland They are compared with children in Dublin and London in 1981 and again in 1992 when there were the beginnings of a move towards peace backed up by other shifts in Northern Ireland society It was found that East Belfast Protestant children in particular had a pessimistic attitude towards themselves and were less willing to invest in their future in 1981 but in 1992 they were more positive and it looked as though they were reflecting a slowly emerging willingness in their own community to reinterpret their identity Children in Changing Families Lydia Lambert, Jane Streater, 1980

Changing Gender Relations, Changing Families Oriol Sullivan, 2006-04-27 It is common knowledge that responsibilities in the home are not divided equally between men and women. Feminists bemoan how slowly this gender gap is changing. Sociologist Oriol Sullivan however focuses on the neglected topic of the processes of change, discussing changing domestic gender practices on many different levels, from changes in attitudes about gender equality in the home to the quantitative analysis of change in the domestic division of labor. His newly developed theoretical approach connects the wider discussion of gender practices within the home to the interactions and negotiations that individuals engage in on a day to day basis. He includes empirical evidence for change, presenting findings based upon directly comparable cross national data from the mid 1960s to the late 1990s. This book will appeal to readers interested in gender studies, sociology and in the changing gender equity of the home.

Family, 1985 Collins Dictionary John Pierson, Martin Thomas, 2002 Fully revised and updated the new edition of the Collins Dictionary of Social Work includes much new material on Britain's constantly evolving social landscape, giving concise and comprehensible explanations in jargon free language of the most important social work terms and is designed particularly for students in further and higher education who are preparing for careers in child care, psychiatric nursing, residential care, community care, counselling, the probation service and social work.
