Cosmos As Creation Theology And Science In Consonance:

Cosmos as Creation Ted Peters, 1989 Religion and the Challenges of Science William Sweet, Richard Feist, 2017-11-30 Does science pose a challenge to religion and religious belief This question has been a matter of long standing debate and it continues to concern not only scholars in philosophy theology and the sciences but also those involved in public educational policy This volume provides background to the current science and religion debate yet focuses as well on themes where recent discussion of the relation between science and religion has been particularly concentrated The first theme deals with the history of the interrelation of science and religion The second and third themes deal with the implications of recent work in cosmology biology and so called intelligent design for religion and religious belief The fourth theme is concerned with conceptual issues underlying or implied in the current debates such as Are scientific naturalism and religion compatible Are science and religion bodies of knowledge or practices or both Do religion and science offer conflicting truth claims By illuminating contemporary discussion in the science religion debate and by outlining the options available in describing the relation between the two this volume will be of interest to scholars and to members of the educated public alike

Providence and Prayer Terrance L. Tiessen, 2009-09-20 From the view that God does not intervene in the world to the view that God is the only effective agent in the working of his will Terrance Tiessen identifies ten views of providence and adds his own

Religion and Science in Context Willem B. Drees, 2009-09-10 How should we think about religion science and their relationship in modern society Some religious groups oppose evolution some atheists claim science is on their side Others reconcile their beliefs with science or consider science and faith to deal with fundamentally different aspects of human life What indeed is religion belief or trust in God s existence How do we distinguish sense from superstition What does science have to say on such issues Willem B Drees considers contemporary discussions of these issues in Europe and North America using examples from Christianity and religious naturalism and reflections on Islam and Tibetan Buddhism He argues that the scientific understanding leaves open certain ultimate questions and thus allows for belief in a creator but also for religious naturalism or serious agnosticism By analysing the place of values in a world of facts and the quest for meaningful stories in a material world Religion and Science in Context offers an original and self critical analysis of the field its assumptions and functions and ends with a vision of its possible future

The Cosmos as the Primary Sacrament Dorothy C. McDougall, 2003 The magnitude of the current ecological crisis demands a fundamental redefinition of human identity It is no longer viable to regard human beings as the apex of creation rather humans must be recognized as existing within an intricate web of cosmic relations For Christian sacramental theology this redefinition requires that the horizon of theological reflection be shifted from a redemption centered focus to a cosmocentric one In this book Dorothy C McDougall elaborates the construction of an ecological sacramental theology based on the metaphor of the cosmos as the primary sacrament McDougall draws on the work of Thomas Berry with its foundation in a new and emergent scientific perspective as well as the social critique of ecofeminism as two significant resources Fifty Years in Science and Religion Robert J. Russell,2004 Ian G Barbour is the internationally acknowledged pioneer in the field of science and religion Although public opinion is often swayed by strident voices which attempt to place science and religion in conflict or keep them totally isolated Barbour s voluminous contributions over the past fifty years have carved out a trusted pathway to constructive dialogue and creative mutual interaction between science and religion Fifty Years in Science and Religion brings together nineteen leading scholars in the field to offer an appreciative yet critical assessment of the impact of Barbour s work on science and religion and to point ahead towards future critical areas goals and tasks that await new research and visionary exploration This book includes a unique autobiography by Barbour in which for the first time he shares and reflects on his life and work and a detailed bibliography of Barbour s works Together the authors demonstrate how Barbour s writings and the hundreds of scholars who have now become part of the field have changed the course of intellectual history in the West by making possible and necessary a truly constructive engagement between science and religion in the context of inter religious dialogue and the global human and environmental challenges of our time Elenchus of Biblica ,1995 Theology of Creation in an Evolutionary World Karl Schmitz-Moormann,James F.
