Counsel in the Caucasus: Professionalization and Law in Georgia Christopher P. M. Waters,2013-12-14 This book traces the development of the rule of law in Georgia since its independence and speculates on its future direction It does so by focusing on changes in the legal profession after 1991 Intriguingly the book which is based on extensive field work concludes that culture and informal regulation are key to understanding how Georgian lawyers are governed or rather govern themselves Indeed for several years after independence from the Soviet Union there was no functioning law on attorneys informal regulation based on the importance of reputation and networks was the only sort of regulation Other topics addressed in the book include Georgia s legal history its current human rights situation theories of professionalization and the link between law and development The book also compares the Georgian experience to that country s South Caucasian neighbors Armenia and Azerbaijan thus rounding the book out as a regional study Adjudicating International Human Rights James A. Green,Christopher P.M. Waters,2015-01-27 Adjudicating International Human Rights honours Professor Sandy Gandhi on his retirement from law teaching It does so through a series of targeted essays which probe the framework and adequacy of international human rights adjudication Eminent international law scholars such as Sir Nigel Rodley Professor Javaid Rehman and Professor Malcolm Evans along with emerging writers in the field take Professor Gandhi s body of work focussed on human rights protection through legal institutions as a starting point for a variety of analytical essays Adjudicating International Human Rights includes chapters devoted to human rights protection in a number of different institutional contexts ranging from the ICJ and the Human Rights Committee to truth commissions and NAFTA arbitration tribunals The Politics of Memory in Post-Authoritarian Transitions, Volume One Joanna

Marszałek-Kawa,Joanna Piechowiak-Lamparska,Anna Ratke-Majewska,2017-01-06 History is a powerful tool in the hands of politicians and can be a destructive weapon since power over the past is the power to decide who is a hero and who is a traitor Tradition the memory of ancestors and the experience of previous generations are the keys that unlock the door to citizens minds and allow certain ideas visions and political programs to flourish However can history be a proper political weapon during democratisation processes when the past is clearly separated from the present Are the new order and society founded on the basis of some interpretation of the past or rather are they founded only with reference to the imagined future of the nation This book explores such questions through a detailed description of the use of remembrance policies during political transformations It discusses how interpretations of the past served the accomplishment of transitional objectives in countries as varied as Chile Estonia Georgia Poland South Africa and Spain The book is a unique journey through different parts of the world different cultures and different political systems investigating how history was remembered and forgotten by certain democratic leaders Individual chapters discuss how governments remembrance policies were used to create a new citizen to change a political culture and to justify the vision of the society promoted by the new elites They explain why some difficult topics were avoided by politicians and why sometimes there was no transitional justice or punishment of the leaders of the authoritarian state The book will be of interest to anyone wishing to explore policies of remembrance democratisation and the role of memory in contemporary societies

Lawyers in 21st-Century Societies Richard L Abel,Hilary Sommerlad,Ole Hammerslev,Ulrike Schultz,2022-05-05 This book presents an invaluable collection of essays by eminent scholars from a wide variety of disciplines on the main issues currently confronting legal professions across the world It does this through a comparative analysis of the data provided by the reports on 46 countries in its companion volume Lawyers in 21st Century Societies Vol 1 National Reports Hart 2020 Together these volumes build on the seminal collection Lawyers in Society Abel and Lewis 1988a 1988b 1989 The period since 1988 has seen an acceleration and intensification of the global socio economic cultural and political developments that in the 1980s were challenging traditional professional forms Together with the striking transformation of the world order as a result of the fall of the Soviet bloc neo liberalism globalisation the financialisation of capitalism technological innovations and the changing demography of lawyers these developments underscored the need for a new comparative exploration of the legal professional field This volume deepens the insights in volume 1 with chapters on legal professions in Africa Latin America the Islamic world emerging economies and former communist regimes It also addresses theoretical questions including the sociology of lawyers and other professions medicine accountancy state production the rule of law regional bodies large law firms access to justice technology casualisation cause lawyering diversity gender race and masculinity corruption ethics regulation and legal education Together with volume 1 it will inform and challenge conceptions of the contemporary profession and stimulate and support further research

Party Members and Their Importance in Non-EU Countries Sergiu Gherghina,Alexandra Iancu,Sorina Soare,2018-05-23 Although party membership has been extensively analysed in the EU Members States from Western and Eastern Europe there is a gap in systematic data collection and analyses for the other countries in the Balkans and post Soviet region This book provides new and innovative insights in the area of party membership research to analyse the evolution of membership organizations in political parties from under investigated countries Specifically it seeks to understand the way in which political parties and the national legislation conceptualize the notion of membership within and across countries It provides original data and affords a first comprehensive comparative study of party members in the EU neighbouring countries which resonate particular interest because some of them occupy the precarious middle ground between a full fledge democracy and outright dictatorship In light of these relevant observations this systematic analysis of membership evolutions in democratizing countries brings valuable insights for the study of party politics in general This text

M. Waters,2002 This dissertation examines lawyers and lawyering in post Soviet Georgia It suggests that the collapse of the Soviet Union triggered a rapid de professionalization of lawyers The monopoly of the Soviet era Bar was broken the number of law graduates multiplied many of the objective conditions for lawyering such as functioning courts were simply absent and most jurists employed by state enterprises lost their jobs In other words lawyers were left with little control over their markets or work But there has also been a growing movement towards the professionalization of lawyers since 1991 Intriguingly the key to understanding the new professionalism lies not with the reconstruction of state mandated monopolies indeed for several years there was simply no law regulating the Bar but rather with lawyers attempts to control a market through means firmly lodged in culture and the politics of the post Soviet transition These means include a traditional reliance on reputation and networks Comparisons are also made here to the legal professions in Armenia and Azerbaijan revealing similar findings and rounding out this thesis as a regional study The empirical findings which are based on fieldwork carried out in Transcaucasia between 1998 and 2001 have implications for studies of the legal profession and the rule of law in transition societies
